REDS MAKE NEW RIVER CROSSING

India Suggests Small Nations Try For Peace

Would Draft Plan To End Korea War

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 14 (AP) — India suggested today that the United Nations Security Council entrust to its six small-nation members the task of drafting a Korean peace plan.

India's chief delegate, Benegal N. Rau, told the council frankly that the plan was designed mainly to end the procedural stalemate which has increased rather than reduced "tension between the two great powers."

The proposed committee would include representatives of India, Yugoslavia, Cuba, Egypt, Norway and Ecuador and would act as a sort of "Little Security Council" with powers to make recommendations to the full council.

The main advantages, Rau said, would be that the committee could meet in private or in public, could hear any person it pleased, and none of the members could be suspected of any expansionist ambitions.

Comes As Surprise

The Indian plan came as a surprise to all but a few delegates who had been consulted privately in advance. Rau said he would formalize the plan into a resolution if he received enough support.

Rau was one of four speakers who continued the non-Communist assault on the way Russia's Jakob A. Malik has discharged his functions as council president since he ended his boycott Aug. 1.

France's Jean Chauvel charged Malik is aiding Communist North Korea by prolonging the procedural stalemate for propaganda purposes.

"To paralyze the council which has taken the responsibility for engaging the United Nations in the defense of the Republic of Korea," Chauvel said, "is to aid the North Koreans, the attackers of the republic."

Antonio Quevedo of Ecuador accused Malik of violating council rules repeatedly and ignoring the will of the majority.

Norway's Arne Sunde said he would not try to compete with Malik in his selected field of propaganda.

Tension Is Increased

"If this were an exercise in propaganda, the president would graduate with high marks," Sunde said. "But this is not an arena for propaganda, Mr. President, but the Security Council which must represent the interests of all 59 members for peace."

Rau, in submitting his suggestion, told Malik he had hoped with Malik's return to the council that some settlement might be in sight, but that his hopes had receded somewhat now.

"The course of the debates in this council has served to increase rather than reduce the tension between the two great powers," Rau said.

The council adjourned until Thursday afternoon (2 p. m., EST) to give members time to study the new proposal.

Truman Declares 'Victory Assured' In Korean Strife

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) — President Truman said today "victory is assured" in the Korean war.

Mr. Truman made the prediction in a message to South Korea's President Syngman Rhee on the second anniversary of the founding of the little postwar republic.

Denouncing the "savage and ruthless communist invader," Mr. Truman told Rhee:

"I know that the aggressor will be repelled and that the people of Korea will achieve the freedom and independence which are their natural right.

"By a staunch adherence to the principles of right and democracy, victory is assured."

Senate Approves Meat Industry Profit Formula

Proposal Guarantees "Reasonable" Margin

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 —The Senate today approved a proposal to guarantee a "reasonable margin of profit" to the meat-packing industry under any wage-price-ration control powers exercised by President Truman.

The action came by voice vote, overriding Republican protests that the meat industry was being singled out for special favoritism if controls come. A supporter of the proposal said later it was aimed at preventing meat black marketing.

Across-Board Plan Rejected

Also by voice vote, the Senate batted down a demand by GOP leaders that a "reasonable profit" plan be extended across the board to cover all industries.

Both actions came late in the day as the Senate quickened debate on a 1950 home front mobilization act which would give Mr. Truman authority to control prices and wages and impose rationing when he deemed it necessary, along with credit and production controls.

Both Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) and Wherry (R-Neb) had declared earlier that if Congress failed to work out a formula for fixing prices in all industries, it would mean black markets again.

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate Banking Committee, sponsored the amendment assuring the meat industry an unspecified "reasonable" profit at the packer-wholesaler level.

Revives Section of OPA Law

The amendment revives a section of the old OPA law and makes certain that it covers meat wholesalers. Under the old law, there was some confusion as to the wholesalers.

Maybank did not explain to the Senate why he picked out the meat industry, but it was reported that he had been asked to revive the old OPA section in the new control bill and had agreed to do so.

He said the old OPA section covering meat prices did not go into effect until 1945 — about a year before OPA meat price restrictions went out in the fall of 1946—and was "not given a fair test."

Jap Ships To Start Calling At U. S. Ports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Japanese merchant vessels will shortly start calling at United States ports for the first time since 1941, the Army announced today.

The Army said that the government had granted clearance for Japanese sea-borne trade to and from American ports but that initially only tramp vessels engaged in bulk cargo-carrying will take part.

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 14 (AP)—A Soviet delegation, headed by the Russian ambassador to Iran, Ivan Sadchikov, met today with Finance Minister Dr. Taghi Nasr to begin trade talks.

Excess Profits Tax Is Planned For Next Year

National Sales Tax Study Is Ordered

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee instructed its staff today to prepare proposals for an excess profits tax on corporations in 1951, and to explore the possibilities of a national retail sales tax and a transactions levy.

Moreover, in a broad probing for new revenue, the tax-framing group told its staff to study the possible extension of an excess profits levy to individuals and partnerships.

It voted not to make an excess profits tax a part of President Truman's $5,000,000,000 tax boost to help meet the suddenly expanded defense load.

No Commitment

Committeemen said they did not regard the studies ordered as in any way a commitment for later approval of sales taxes, transaction taxes or for excess profits levies on individuals and partnerships.

But as to corporations, Sen. Hoey (D-NC) said the committee's instructions for preparation of excess profits tax plans in his opinion "gives notice to all corporations that in all probability an excess profits tax will be enacted next year effective January 1, 1951."

"I think," Hoey said, "the committee is for an excess profits tax on corporations, but decided not to include it in the present tax bill."

There was no indication from committee members on what might be developed in the nature of an excess profits tax on individuals and partnerships. One committee spokesmen said the efforts in this direction now are merely "exploratory."

And members added there was no commitment involved in ordering studies in the sales and transaction tax field.

Forms Of Taxation Weighed

The committee weighed the various forms of taxation as it neared final action on President Truman's $5,000,000,000 tax boosting plan to help pay for American rearmament and fight inflation.

It already has approved as a part of the measure the President's proposals for an increase of almost $3,000,000,000 a year in individual income taxes and a $1,500,000,000 boost for corporations.

An excess profits tax would be intended to prevent profiteering on the preparedness effort and provide revenue to help pay for it.

Congressional leaders said today after a White House call that they do not look for additional requests for military funds right away.

Demo Senator Hits China Policy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) —A Democratic Senate veteran today assailed the State Department's handling of the China situation in a speech which topped off a weekend of Senate quarreling over Far Eastern policy.

The speaker, Sen. McCarran (D-Nev), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, declared that the State Department produced statesmanship with regard to China "at the level of the psychopathic ward," and "in the end, we wrecked the Chiang Kai-Shek government."

McCarran's blast, which carried an appeal for backing of Chiang as the best hope currently for fighting communism in Asia, followed a series of heated inter-party exchanges over Korean policy on and off the Senate floor.

Democrats accused the Republicans of "political pettifogging," of using the Korean crisis to try to "cozen a few votes in November."

Republicans charged the Democratic administration is entirely responsible for the Far East crisis.

Assumption Of Virgin Mary To Become Catholic Dogma

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 14 (AP)—Pope Pius has called a secret consistory to make belief in the bodily assumption of the Virgin Mary into heaven a dogma of the Catholic Church, it was announced today.

The dogma will be the first added to the doctrine of the church in nearly 100 years. The last was that of the Immaculate Conception proclaimed on Dec. 8, 1854.

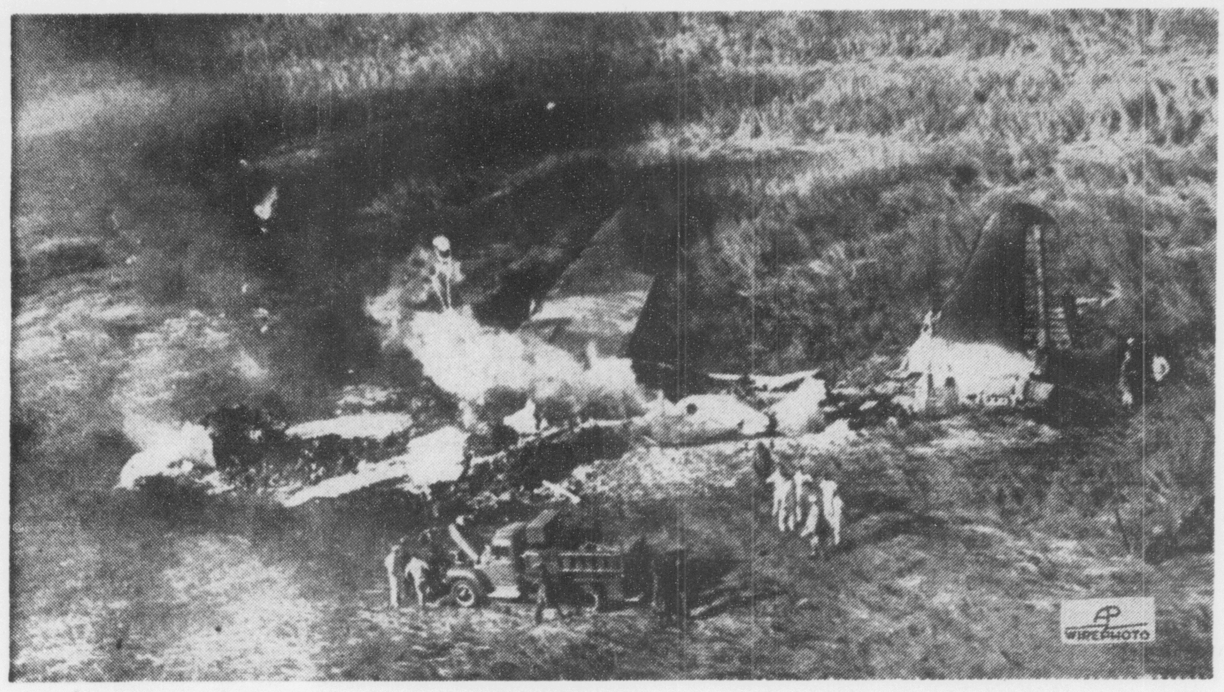
L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican City newspaper, made the announcement on the eve of the Feast of the Assumption — August 15 — which has been observed by Catholics for centuries.

L'Osservatore Romano said the secret consistory of cardinals has been called for Oct. 30, and that Pope Pius will proclaim the dogma on Nov. 1 on the closing day of an international Marian congress in Rome.

Thousands devoted especially to the Virgin Mary, mother of Jesus, then will be assembled from all parts of the world for one of the most important events of the 1950 Holy Year.

Pope Pius, in proclaiming the dogma in St. Peter's Basilica on the day of the Feast of All Saints, will speak "ex cathedra" (from the chair); that is, when he is presumed by the church to be infallible.

The proclamation will compel all members of the church to believe that the mother of Jesus was borne bodily into heaven or expose themselves to heresy.



Four Crewmen Perish In Crash Of Superfort

A B-29 bomber from Barksdale Air Force Base, La., crashed into a field near Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday and burst into flames. Four crewmen were killed and eight others got away with minor injuries as the Superfort struck the field and slithered almost half a mile, stopping just short of a cluster of houses.

Four Crewmen Die In Flaming Crash Of B-29

Narrowly Misses Cluster Of Homes

FORT WORTH, Aug. 14 (AP)—A crippled B-29 bomber crashed and burned in a field five miles north of Carswell Air Force base today, killing four crewmen.

Eight crewmen got away with minor injuries as the four-engined bomber struck the field and slithered almost half a mile, stopping just short of a cluster of houses. The fliers tumbled from the Superfortress as it plowed crazily along the ground.

Three charred bodies were removed from the nose section of the plane and one from the center section.

The bomber was from Barksdale Air Force Base, near Shreveport, La. It apparently was trying to land at Carswell.

Fuel Explodes

Mrs. A. L. Cronk, of Lake Worth Village, said she and her husband took two of the surviving crewmen to the Carswell base hospital in their car. Both were dazed but one was able to talk.

"I couldn't pull it up, I couldn't pull it up," he kept repeating.

She didn't learn the fliers' names.

An explosion of fuel ripped the bomber as it ended its slide through the tree-studded field.

Robert V. Bail, Fort Worth, said he saw the plane circling with its left landing gear down but its right landing gear up.

Witnesses said the plane circled the field several times, apparently trying to land but in trouble.

Control Tower Not Contacted

Carswell officers said the B-29 was a photo ship. It carried no bombs, guns or ammunition.

Officers on the apron said the plane appeared to be coming in for a landing at about 1,000 feet. However, the control tower said the plane had not contacted it.

The plane apparently made a circle over Carswell, then flew over nearby Lake Worth. It crashed in Indian Oaks, a village on the outskirts of Fort Worth.

Production Near Truman's Goal

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (INS)—The government reported today that U. S. production reached an annual record of nearly 270 billion dollars before the Korean war pushed it even closer to President Truman's goal of 300 billions a year.

The Commerce Department said that "gross national product" of goods and services for the three months ending June 30 was at an annual rate of 269 billion, 900 million dollars.

This was nearly three billions above the previous record established in the last quarter of 1948. It represents a continued gain in production since late 1949.

Commerce officials called it "an extension of the upswing in economic activity already under way earlier this year."

Lone House Member Holds Fate Of Bill To Cancel Out Broad Postal Service Cuts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—A lone House member tonight held the immediate fate of a controversial bill to restore twice-a-day home mail delivery—and he was half way across the country.

If the congressman, Rep. Walsh (D-Ind), isn't here tomorrow, the bill will be tossed aside; perhaps to die.

Located in Green Bay, Wis., tonight, Walsh said that "God willing, I will be on the floor in Washington at noon tomorrow" to call up the controversial bill.

A colleague said that a three-state alarm has been sounded for Walsh, who was reported in his car on the way to Green Bay, Wis., for a speech tomorrow night. Backers of the bill were anxious to know if he can hustle back in time.

The measure would restore the broad postal service cuts of last spring.

How Snafu Developed

Today's snafu developed this way:

Walsh and other recently got up a petition to force the bill to the House floor. It was then in a Rules Committee piegon-hole. When a majority signed the petition, this required the House to act on a resolution allowing the bill to be considered. Members adopted it today.

The catch was this: The resolution specified that Walsh shall be recognized to call up the bill—tomorrow.

If he isn't here, House experts said, the whole combersome procedure would have to be repeated, unless the Rules Committee relented. This would mean considerable delay at best.

Today House advocates of the measure to cancel out Postmaster General Donaldson's economy order were in full control.

Motion To Adjourn Loses

They licked, 274 to 48, a motion to adjourn which would have blocked action at least two more weeks. Then by a vote of 249 to 81 the House decided to take the legislation away from the Rules Committee which has bottled it up. That action included a decision to vote on the measure tomorrow.

Donaldson ordered a number of cuts in service last April 18 to offset mounting postal deficits. The order came at a time when Congress was getting ready to trim Post Office appropriations below what Donaldson described as "rock-bottom" figures.

Among the cuts Donaldson ordered were: Reducing residential deliveries from two to one a day; shorter window service hours at many offices; fewer pickups from street corner mail boxes; parcel post deliveries on a one-day basis; and handling only first class mail at night—thus reducing night work and cutting down on premium pay for postal workers.

Red Targets Hit By 23,000 Bombs

TOKYO, Tuesday, Aug. 15 (AP) — Superfortress bombers droped more than 23,000 high explosive bombs on North Korean objectives in a month, a U. S. Far East Air Force summary reported today.

Five major targets felt the heaviest blows from the more than 7,000 tons of high explosives, said the report of Maj. Gen. Emmet O'Donnell, FEAF bomber commander, in a report to Lt. Gen. George E Stratemeyer, FEAF commander.

The report covered raids from July 13 to Aug. 12.

No Trace Found Of Missing Heir

LONE PINE, Calif., Aug. 14 (AP)—Veteran mountaineers reported tonight that they have found no trace of missing Tobacco Heir Christopher Reynolds after an all-day search on the treacherous east slope of Mt. Whitney.

Five experienced climbers, members of the Sierra club, said they will stay on the mountain all night to get an earlier start on tomorrow's search of the icy and snow-filled crevasses of the nation's highest peak.

There was only the slimmest hope that the 17-year-old son of former Torch Singer Libby Holman, missing since he started to climb the peak eight days ago, would be found alive.

Meanwhile the frozen body of his companion, Steven Rice Wasserman, 17, was brought down by stretcher from the 11,500-foot level, where it was found yesterday, to the Mirror Lake base camp.

The boy's body was taken by muleback tonight to Whitney Portal, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stix Wasserman, met the caravan on the trail.

Tropical Storm 1,000 Miles From Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 14 (AP) — The first tropical hurricane of the year churned the Atlantic off Puerto Rico today, but it was too early to tell whether it might strike the United States mainland.

Still barely of hurricane velocity—75-mile winds whirling around its center — the storm was approximately 1,000 miles south of east of Miami.

At its present forward speed of 13 miles an hour, the storm was three days travel from the coast. It was moving west-northwestward.

Coal Hearings Set

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Efforts failed today to settle without hearing an unfair practice complaint filed by soft coal operators against John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers during last winter's strikes.

Accordingly, a trial examiner will open hearings tomorrow for the National Labor Relations Board.

Unions Will Ask Truman To Take Over Railroads

White House Talks Apparently Collapse

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) — Union officials tonight prepared to ask President Truman anew to take over the nation's strike-threatened railroads.

A spokesman for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said President W. P. Kennedy of the trainmen and President R. O. Hughes of the Order of Railway Conductors would ask Mr. Truman to intervene "to avert serious interruption in train service."

Meet With President

The spokesman said Kennedy and Hughes had arranged to confer with Mr. Truman tonight. This followed apparently virtual collapse of week-long negotiations at the White House.

The union official said the request was based on the fact that there was "no progress and no apparent interest on the part of the railroad presidents in the controversy."

The unions, he said, are "going to terminate the sessions at the White House."

40-Hour Week Issue

The controversy centers of the 40-hour week. It involves some 300,000 members of the trainmen and conductors unions. The unions are seeking a 40-hour week without loss of pay for workers in yard service, who have been working a 48-hour week.

The unions first asked Mr. Truman to take over the railroads in a telegram on Aug. 4.

The unions have been at liberty to strike since July 15, under operation of the railway act.

South Korean Division Joins Pohang Battle

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—The United Nations has thrown a full South Korean division into the battle for Pohang, Defense Department reports said today.

An Army spokesman told this afternoon's briefing conference that the South Korean Capital Division had been moved some 25 miles across country from the northern front into the fight to hold the Pohang airfield.

All 550 Aboard Removed From Blazing Cruise Ship

TADOUSSAC, Que., Aug. 14 (AP)—All 400 passengers and 150 crew members aboard the cruise ship Quebec reached shore safely today after the 4,200-ton vessel caught fire in the lower St. Lawrence River.

The fire was reported to have started about 4:30 p. m. (EST) in the No. 1 hold. Crewmen fought the blaze but could not bring it under control.

The fire started off St. Simeon and it was decided to make the 25-mile run to Tadoussac. The passengers and crew were taken off in this summer resort town at the mouth of the Saguenay River.

Passengers were placed on the forward part of the vessel away from the flames as the Quebec came into Tadoussac. On reaching the harbor here they were taken down in ladders.

The Canadian Steamship Lines vessel still was ablaze tonight in the harbor and was developing a list. Tadoussac's fire department, assisted by volunteers, poured tons of water on a small wharf to prevent the flames from spreading to the shore.

Officials of the line in the city of Quebec said the ship was a "complete loss." The steel-hulled vessel was equipped with a sprinkler system and a fire-proof bulkhead.

Yanks Repulse North Korean Counterblocks

Communists Mass For Taegu Attack

TOKYO, Tuesday, Aug. 15 (AP)—Korean communists today shoved 1,000 troops over the Naktong River in a new crossing on the central front where they have massed some 60,000 men for an all-out drive on the key American base of Taegu.

The new crossing was south of Tuksong, 14 air miles southwest of Taegu. This is near the junction of the U. S. First Cavalry and 24th Division sectors on the river barrier. It was about 15 miles north of the attacking 24th's attempt to wipe out the 12,000 reds who crossed the Naktong near Changnyong, 23 air miles southwest of Taegu.

Should the new spearhead crack the southern flank of the First Cavalry, it could turn south against the northern flank of the 24th. First Cavalry troopers moved to meet the reds who crossed under cover of darkness opposed only by American artillery fire. Air power joined the attack on the reds after daylight.

24th Repulses Reds

The 24th also went over to the attack again Tuesday morning after repulsing strong tank-supported communist counterblocks during the night. This was the second day of the 24th's attempt in full divisional strength to wipe out the Changnyong bridgehead and knock the expected all-out North Korean offensive off balance.

The 24th division had advanced up to a mile Monday.

The Reds in turn hit both north and south flanks Monday night and early today with strong tank support, AP Correspondent Jack MacBeth reported from the front.

The Americans beat them back with no loss of ground, then plunged forward in a northwesterly direction with a drive aimed at wiping out the bridgehead by either killing the enemy or chasing him back to the Naktong's west banks.

The action came on the fifth anniversary of Korea's liberation from Japan, a date that has been heralded as the probable start of the reds' greatest offensive of the war.

The initial success of the American punch brought a mood of cautious optimism to division headquarters. A spokesman said Tuesday morning the situation was "highly satisfactory." He added that he expected the 12,000 troops of the over-strength North Korean Fourth Division to start a drive from the beachhead within two days.

Reds Use Underwater Bridge

The North Korean Fourth took advantage of darkness Monday night to move reinforcements across the river.

A score of miles north of the Changnyong beachhead, the reds massed a huge force on the west bank of the Naktong, facing Waegwan on the eastern side of the river, 12 miles from Taegu.

It is there the reds have built up the greatest concentration of their total estimated 150,000 troops in South Korea.

And in that sector, United Nations defending forces have kept Naktong crossings to a minimum.

Gen. MacArthur's early morning headquarters summary said, however, that the enemy was believed to have thrown a second underwater bridge across the Naktong on the Waekwan front.

Such bridges are made of logs chained together and weighted with stones so they lie just below the surface. Men and armor can cross them, but they are difficult to spot when not in use. The idea was developed by the Russians in World War II.

The Seventh Regiment of the U. S. First Cavalry Division "annihilated" 500 reds who tried to sneak cross the river there Monday night, and drove another group of 300 back into the water.

D. C.-Bound O'Dwyer May Become Envoy

Earlier, he refused to make any comment when newsmen asked him about the reports which have circulated for some time.

Va. Polio Outbreak Hits Record Pace

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 14 (AP)—The biggest polio weekend on record in Virginia brought reports of 41 new cases since Friday into the State Health Department today.

Six new cases were reported from Wythe County, center of a serious epidemic. Wythe now has had 152 cases since July 1.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Japanese merchant vessels will shortly start calling at United States ports for the first time since 1941, the Army announced today.

The Army said that the government had granted clearance for Japanese sea-borne trade to and from American ports but that initially only tramp vessels engaged in bulk cargo-carrying will take part.

Excess Profits Tax Is Planned For Next Year

National Sales Tax Study Is Ordered

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee instructed its staff today to prepare proposals for an excess profits tax on corporations in 1951, and to explore the possibilities of a national retail sales tax and a transactions levy.

Moreover, in a broad probing for new revenue, the tax-framing group told its staff to study the possible extension of an excess profits levy to individuals and partnerships.

It voted not to make an excess profits tax a part of President Truman's $5,000,000,000 tax boost to help meet the suddenly expanded defense load.

No Commitment

Committeemen said they did not regard the studies ordered as in any way a commitment for later approval of sales taxes, transaction taxes or for excess profits levies on individuals and partnerships.

But as to corporations, Sen. Hoey (D-NC) said the committee's instructions for preparation of excess profits tax plans in his opinion "gives notice to all corporations that in all probability an excess profits tax will be enacted next year effective January 1, 1951."

"I think," Hoey said, "the committee is for an excess profits tax on corporations, but decided not to include it in the present tax bill."

There was no indication from committee members on what might be developed in the nature of an excess profits tax on individuals and partnerships. One committee spokesmen said the efforts in this direction now are merely "exploratory."

And members added there was no commitment involved in ordering studies in the sales and transaction tax field.

Forms Of Taxation Weighed

The committee weighed the various forms of taxation as it neared final action on President Truman's $5,000,000,000 tax boosting plan to help pay for American rearmament and fight inflation.

It already has approved as a part of the measure the President's proposals for an increase of almost $3,000,000,000 a year in individual income taxes and a $1,500,000,000 boost for corporations.

An excess profits tax would be intended to prevent profiteering on the preparedness effort and provide revenue to help pay for it.

Congressional leaders said today after a White House call that they do not look for additional requests for military funds right away.

Demo Senator Hits China Policy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) —A Democratic Senate veteran today assailed the State Department's handling of the China situation in a speech which topped off a weekend of Senate quarreling over Far Eastern policy.

The speaker, Sen. McCarran (D-Nev), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, declared that the State Department produced statesmanship with regard to China "at the level of the psychopathic ward," and "in the end, we wrecked the Chiang Kai-Shek government."

McCarran's blast, which carried an appeal for backing of Chiang as the best hope currently for fighting communism in Asia, followed a series of heated inter-party exchanges over Korean policy on and off the Senate floor.

Democrats accused the Republicans of "political pettifogging," of using the Korean crisis to try to "cozen a few votes in November."

Republicans charged the Democratic administration is entirely responsible for the Far East crisis.

Assumption Of Virgin Mary To Become Catholic Dogma

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 14 (AP)—Pope Pius has called a secret consistory to make belief in the bodily assumption of the Virgin Mary into heaven a dogma of the Catholic Church, it was announced today.

The dogma will be the first added to the doctrine of the church in nearly 100 years. The last was that of the Immaculate Conception proclaimed on Dec. 8, 1854.

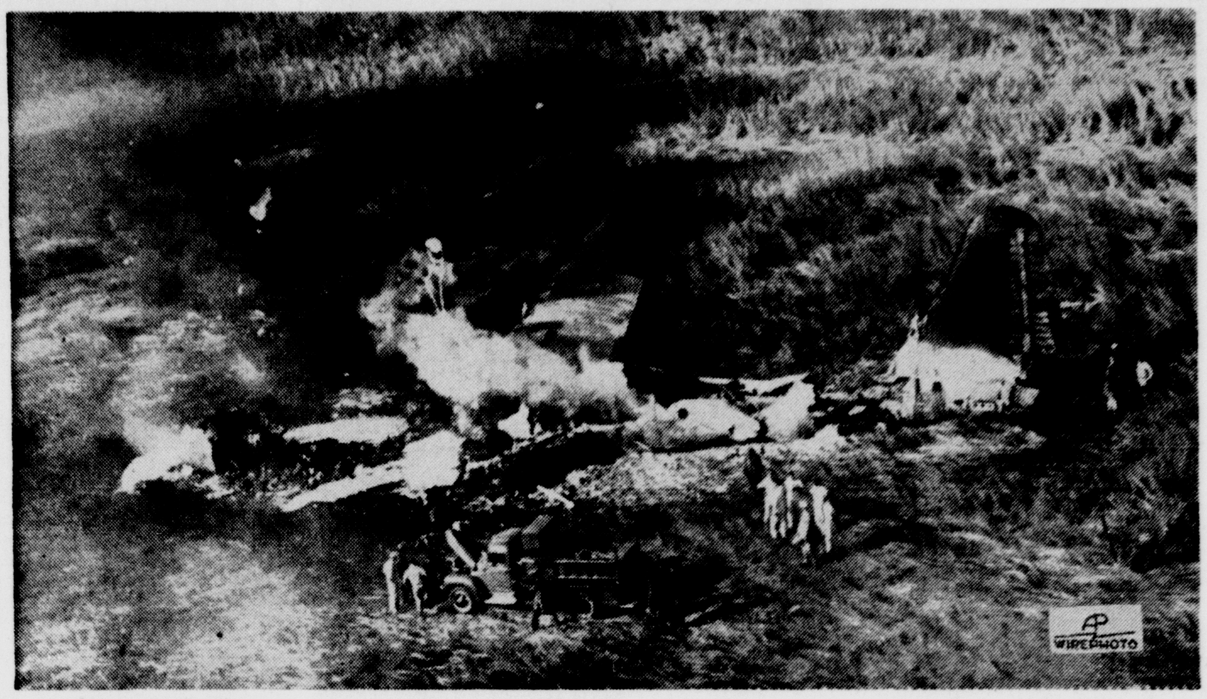
L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican City newspaper, made the announcement on the eve of the Feast of the Assumption — August 15 — which has been observed by Catholics for centuries.

L'Osservatore Romano said the secret consistory of cardinals has been called for Oct. 30, and that Pope Pius will proclaim the dogma on Nov. 1 on the closing day of an international Marian congress in Rome.

Thousands devoted especially to the Virgin Mary, mother of Jesus, then will be assembled from all parts of the world for one of the most important events of the 1950 Holy Year.

Pope Pius, in proclaiming the dogma in St. Peter's Basilica on the day of the Feast of All Saints, will speak "ex cathedra" (from the chair); that is, when he is presumed by the church to be infallible.

The proclamation will compel all members of the church to believe that the mother of Jesus was borne bodily into heaven or expose themselves to heresy.



Four Crewmen Perish In Crash Of Superfort

A B-29 bomber from Barksdale Air Force Base, La., crashed into a field near Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday and burst into flames. Four crewmen were killed and eight others got away with minor injuries as the Superfort struck the field and slithered almost half a mile, stopping just short of a cluster of houses.

Four Crewmen Die In Flaming Crash Of B-29

Narrowly Misses Cluster Of Homes

FORT WORTH, Aug. 14 (AP)—A crippled B-29 bomber crashed and burned in a field five miles north of Carswell Air Force base today, killing four crewmen.

Eight crewmen got away with minor injuries as the four-engined bomber struck the field and slithered almost half a mile, stopping just short of a cluster of houses. The fliers tumbled from the Superfortress as it plowed crazily along the ground.

Three charred bodies were removed from the nose section of the plane and one from the center section.

The bomber was from Barksdale Air Force Base, near Shreveport, La. It apparently was trying to land at Carswell.

Fuel Explodes

Mrs. A. L. Cronk, of Lake Worth Village, said she and her husband took two of the surviving crewmen to the Carswell base hospital in their car. Both were dazed but one was able to talk.

"I couldn't pull it up, I couldn't pull it up," he kept repeating.

She didn't learn the fliers' names.

An explosion of fuel ripped the bomber as it ended its slide through the tree-studded field.

Robert V. Bail, Fort Worth, said he saw the plane circling with its left landing gear down but its right landing gear up.

Witnesses said the plane circled the field several times, apparently trying to land but in trouble.

Control Tower Not Contacted

Carswell officers said the B-29 was a photo ship. It carried no bombs, guns or ammunition.

Officers on the apron said the plane appeared to be coming in for a landing at about 1,000 feet. However, the control tower said the plane had not contacted it.

The plane apparently made a circle over Carswell, then flew over nearby Lake Worth. It crashed in Indian Oaks, a village on the outskirts of Fort Worth.

Production Near Truman's Goal

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (INS)—The government reported today that U. S. production reached an annual record of nearly 270 billion dollars before the Korean war pushed it even closer to President Truman's goal of 300 billions a year.

The Commerce Department said that "gross national product" of goods and services for the three months ending June 30 was at an annual rate of 269 billion, 900 million dollars.

This was nearly three billions above the previous record established in the last quarter of 1948. It represents a continued gain in production since late 1949.

Commerce officials called it "an extension of the upswing in economic activity already under way earlier this year."

Lone House Member Holds Fate Of Bill To Cancel Out Broad Postal Service Cuts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—A lone House member tonight held the immediate fate of a controversial bill to restore twice-a-day home mail delivery—and he was half way across the country.

If the congressman, Rep. Walsh (D-Ind), isn't here tomorrow, the bill will be tossed aside; perhaps to die.

Located in Green Bay, Wis., tonight, Walsh said that "God willing, I will be on the floor in Washington at noon tomorrow" to call up the controversial bill.

A colleague said that a three-state alarm has been sounded for Walsh, who was reported in his car on the way to Green Bay, Wis., for a speech tomorrow night. Backers of the bill were anxious to know if he can hustle back in time.

The measure would restore the broad postal service cuts of last spring.

How Snafu Developed

Today's snafu developed this way:

Walsh and other recently got up a petition to force the bill to the House floor. It was then in a Rules Committee piegon-hole. When a majority signed the petition, this required the House to act on a resolution allowing the bill to be considered. Members adopted it today.

The catch was this: The resolution specified that Walsh shall be recognized to call up the bill—tomorrow.

If he isn't here, House experts said, the whole combersome procedure would have to be repeated, unless the Rules Committee relented. This would mean considerable delay at best.

Today House advocates of the measure to cancel out Postmaster General Donaldson's economy order were in full control.

Motion To Adjourn Loses

They licked, 274 to 48, a motion to adjourn which would have blocked action at least two more weeks. Then by a vote of 249 to 81 the House decided to take the legislation away from the Rules Committee which has bottled it up. That action included a decision to vote on the measure tomorrow.

Donaldson ordered a number of cuts in service last April 18 to offset mounting postal deficits. The order came at a time when Congress was getting ready to trim Post Office appropriations below what Donaldson described as "rock-bottom" figures.

Among the cuts Donaldson ordered were: Reducing residential deliveries from two to one a day; shorter window service hours at many offices; fewer pickups from street corner mail boxes; parcel post deliveries on a one-day basis; and handling only first class mail at night—thus reducing night work and cutting down on premium pay for postal workers.

Red Targets Hit By 23,000 Bombs

TOKYO, Tuesday, Aug. 15 (AP) — Superfortress bombers droped more than 23,000 high explosive bombs on North Korean objectives in a month, a U. S. Far East Air Force summary reported today.

Five major targets felt the heaviest blows from the more than 7,000 tons of high explosives, said the report of Maj. Gen. Emmet O'Donnell, FEAF bomber commander, in a report to Lt. Gen. George E Stratemeyer, FEAF commander.

The report covered raids from July 13 to Aug. 12.

No Trace Found Of Missing Heir

LONE PINE, Calif., Aug. 14 (AP)—Veteran mountaineers reported tonight that they have found no trace of missing Tobacco Heir Christopher Reynolds after an all-day search on the treacherous east slope of Mt. Whitney.

Five experienced climbers, members of the Sierra club, said they will stay on the mountain all night to get an earlier start on tomorrow's search of the icy and snow-filled crevasses of the nation's highest peak.

There was only the slimmest hope that the 17-year-old son of former Torch Singer Libby Holman, missing since he started to climb the peak eight days ago, would be found alive.

Meanwhile the frozen body of his companion, Steven Rice Wasserman, 17, was brought down by stretcher from the 11,500-foot level, where it was found yesterday, to the Mirror Lake base camp.

The boy's body was taken by muleback tonight to Whitney Portal, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stix Wasserman, met the caravan on the trail.

Tropical Storm 1,000 Miles From Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 14 (AP) — The first tropical hurricane of the year churned the Atlantic off Puerto Rico today, but it was too early to tell whether it might strike the United States mainland.

Still barely of hurricane velocity—75-mile winds whirling around its center — the storm was approximately 1,000 miles south of east of Miami.

At its present forward speed of 13 miles an hour, the storm was three days travel from the coast. It was moving west-northwestward.

Coal Hearings Set

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Efforts failed today to settle without hearing an unfair practice complaint filed by soft coal operators against John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers during last winter's strikes.

Accordingly, a trial examiner will open hearings tomorrow for the National Labor Relations Board.

Unions Will Ask Truman To Take Over Railroads

White House Talks Apparently Collapse

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) — Union officials tonight prepared to ask President Truman anew to take over the nation's strike-threatened railroads.

A spokesman for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said President W. P. Kennedy of the trainmen and President R. O. Hughes of the Order of Railway Conductors would ask Mr. Truman to intervene "to avert serious interruption in train service."

Meet With President

The spokesman said Kennedy and Hughes had arranged to confer with Mr. Truman tonight. This followed apparently virtual collapse of week-long negotiations at the White House.

The union official said the request was based on the fact that there was "no progress and no apparent interest on the part of the railroad presidents in the controversy."

The unions, he said, are "going to terminate the sessions at the White House."

40-Hour Week Issue

The controversy centers of the 40-hour week. It involves some 300,000 members of the trainmen and conductors unions. The unions are seeking a 40-hour week without loss of pay for workers in yard service, who have been working a 48-hour week.

The unions first asked Mr. Truman to take over the railroads in a telegram on Aug. 4.

The unions have been at liberty to strike since July 15, under operation of the railway act.

South Korean Division Joins Pohang Battle

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—The United Nations has thrown a full South Korean division into the battle for Pohang, Defense Department reports said today.

An Army spokesman told this afternoon's briefing conference that the South Korean Capital Division had been moved some 25 miles across country from the northern front into the fight to hold the Pohang airfield.

All 550 Aboard Removed From Blazing Cruise Ship

TADOUSSAC, Que., Aug. 14 (AP)—All 400 passengers and 150 crew members aboard the cruise ship Quebec reached shore safely today after the 4,200-ton vessel caught fire in the lower St. Lawrence River.

The fire was reported to have started about 4:30 p. m. (EST) in the No. 1 hold. Crewmen fought the blaze but could not bring it under control.

The fire started off St. Simeon and it was decided to make the 25-mile run to Tadoussac. The passengers and crew were taken off in this summer resort town at the mouth of the Saguenay River.

Passengers were placed on the forward part of the vessel away from the flames as the Quebec came into Tadoussac. On reaching the harbor here they were taken down in ladders.

The Canadian Steamship Lines vessel still was ablaze tonight in the harbor and was developing a list. Tadoussac's fire department, assisted by volunteers, poured tons of water on a small wharf to prevent the flames from spreading to the shore.

Officials of the line in the city of Quebec said the ship was a "complete loss." The steel-hulled vessel was equipped with a sprinkler system and a fire-proof bulkhead.

Yanks Repulse North Korean Counterblocks

Communists Mass For Taegu Attack

TOKYO, Tuesday, Aug. 15 (AP)—Korean communists today shoved 1,000 troops over the Naktong River in a new crossing on the central front where they have massed some 60,000 men for an all-out drive on the key American base of Taegu.

The new crossing was south of Tuksong, 14 air miles southwest of Taegu. This is near the junction of the U. S. First Cavalry and 24th Division sectors on the river barrier. It was about 15 miles north of the attacking 24th's attempt to wipe out the 12,000 reds who crossed the Naktong near Changnyong, 23 air miles southwest of Taegu.

Should the new spearhead crack the southern flank of the First Cavalry, it could turn south against the northern flank of the 24th. First Cavalry troopers moved to meet the reds who crossed under cover of darkness opposed only by American artillery fire. Air power joined the attack on the reds after daylight.

24th Repulses Reds

The 24th also went over to the attack again Tuesday morning after repulsing strong tank-supported communist counterblocks during the night. This was the second day of the 24th's attempt in full divisional strength to wipe out the Changnyong bridgehead and knock the expected all-out North Korean offensive off balance.

The 24th division had advanced up to a mile Monday.

The Reds in turn hit both north and south flanks Monday night and early today with strong tank support, AP Correspondent Jack MacBeth reported from the front.

The Americans beat them back with no loss of ground, then plunged forward in a northwesterly direction with a drive aimed at wiping out the bridgehead by either killing the enemy or chasing him back to the Naktong's west banks.

The action came on the fifth anniversary of Korea's liberation from Japan, a date that has been heralded as the probable start of the reds' greatest offensive of the war.

The initial success of the American punch brought a mood of cautious optimism to division headquarters. A spokesman said Tuesday morning the situation was "highly satisfactory." He added that he expected the 12,000 troops of the over-strength North Korean Fourth Division to start a drive from the beachhead within two days.

Reds Use Underwater Bridge

The North Korean Fourth took advantage of darkness Monday night to move reinforcements across the river.

A score of miles north of the Changnyong beachhead, the reds massed a huge force on the west bank of the Naktong, facing Waegwan on the eastern side of the river, 12 miles from Taegu.

It is there the reds have built up the greatest concentration of their total estimated 150,000 troops in South Korea.

And in that sector, United Nations defending forces have kept Naktong crossings to a minimum.

Gen. MacArthur's early morning headquarters summary said, however, that the enemy was believed to have thrown a second underwater bridge across the Naktong on the Waekwan front.

Such bridges are made of logs chained together and weighted with stones so they lie just below the surface. Men and armor can cross them, but they are difficult to spot when not in use. The idea was developed by the Russians in World War II.

The Seventh Regiment of the U. S. First Cavalry Division "annihilated" 500 reds who tried to sneak cross the river there Monday night, and drove another group of 300 back into the water.

D. C.-Bound O'Dwyer May Become Envoy

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer left by train tonight for Washington amid reports that he is slated to become American ambassador to Mexico.

Earlier, he refused to make any comment when newsmen asked him about the reports which have circulated for some time.

Va. Polio Outbreak Hits Record Pace

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 14 (AP)—The biggest polio weekend on record in Virginia brought reports of 41 new cases since Friday into the State Health Department today.

Six new cases were reported from Wythe County, center of a serious epidemic. Wythe now has had 152 cases since July 1.

Gang Robs Bank Car Of $6,000

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14 (AP)—A gang of armed bandits intercepted a bank messenger car today and escaped with $6,000 loot in a stolen getaway car whose owner was locked in the trunk.

Fred W. Bounds, one of two guards in the bank automobile, told police the robbery was executed with split-second precision when he stopped at a Northwest Baltimore boulevard intersection.

Half an hour later police got a telephone call from James Washington, 28-year-old negro. He said he had just freed himself from his automobile trunk, where a gunman had imprisoned him at 3 a. m., almost seven hours before the holdup.

Investigators said Washington's vehicle apparently was the one used by the bandits.

Bounds and a fellow guard, Howard Heiser, reported they were confronted by three negro gunmen as they stopped behind another automobile at the boulevard.

Bounds said, "the man on my side put a gun behind my ear and said, 'don't move or I'll blow your brains out.' The two on Heiser's side poked guns over the partly lowered window and made him unlock the door.

"Then they took our guns from our holsters. One of the men picked up the suitcase on the floor in back of the front seat. All three of them then ran to the car in front of us and jumped in. The driver turned down Druid Hill Avenue."

Car Kills Daughter Of Late Buddy Clark

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14 (AP) — Penny Clark, seven-year-old daughter of the late Buddy Clark, was killed today when she darted in front of a car near her home.

For Mrs. Nedra Clark, 31, the widow and mother, the death marked another cruel milestone in a tragic lifetime.

Police said Penny dashed away from her nurse at a busy intersection to join playmates across the street.

Mrs. Clark, once picked as America's most beautiful brunette, faced her major tragedy when her first husband went berserk in 1941 and stabbed their two-year-old son and her mother to death. A button which deflected the blade saved her own life. The husband, William M. Evans, now is serving a life sentence in the Illinois state penitentiary.

Last Oct. 1, Clark, a top crooner, was killed in an air crash at the height of his fame.

U. S. May Ask Allies To Boost Arms Effort

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) —The United States today was reported ready to call on its Atlantic pact partners to boost even further the stepped-up rearmament effort they have proposed.

Informed officials said the overall defense increases outlined by America's Atlantic pact allies appear to fall short of what the U. S. believes is necessary to forge an effective barrier to communist aggression in Western Europe.

American defense experts who have been analyzing the new programs, say that while they are "definitely a step in the right direction," few match in proportion the scope and speed of the U. S. rearmament drive.

Explosives Train Causes Jitters

PERT AMBOY, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP) —A 21-car freight train plastered with signs reading "high explosives" was stalled in the station for two and a half hours in blast-conscious Perth Amboy today.

The train parked in the center of this 50,000-population city, set off a series of jittery calls to police headquarters. Police said the residents wanted the train moved quickly.

Perth Amboy is just across the bay from South Amboy where 31 persons died and hundreds were injured last May. The blast littered this city with debris.

A trainman said the trouble was a broken rail further along the line.

Lane Censures Primary Rival

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14 (AP) — Gov. Lane said today George P. Mahoney's campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination has reached a "new low" with a "whole list of sheer fabrications" about the state mental hospitals.

Lane, in a statement also, censured what he termed Mahoney's "completely unfounded attack on the personal integrity of Dr. Clifton T. Perkins, commissioner of mental hygiene and one of the country's foremost psychiatric hospital administrators."

The Governor's blast was in reply to weekend attack by his chief primary rival on the handling of Maryland's mental hospitals.

Mahoney—Baltimore contracting firm head and former State Racing Commission chairman — said Dr. Perkins was still only a "part-time employe" of Maryland with a continuing interest in Massachusetts "which calls for his leaving our state."

Massachusetts formerly employed Dr. Perkins in a capacity equivalent to his present post here.

Said Lane:

"The truth of the matter is that Dr. Perkins has been away from his office only once since coming to Maryland x x x.

"That was to attend the graduation exercises of his daughter at Bates College; to receive an honorary degree himself from that college; and, while in New England, to interview 42 professional people interested in taking jobs in the Maryland hospitals."

Affidavit Asks Court To Revoke Reds' Bail

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—The government said today the nation's 11 top communists should be jailed at once because even the Korean war has not shaken their loyalty to Moscow.

"They should not be at large in this hour of national crisis," said a government affidavit asking that their bail be revoked.

Then the affidavit quoted liberally from the communist newspaper, the Daily Worker, to back the charge.

Ten of the 11 leaders are free on bond, appealing prison terms up to five years that went with their conviction as criminal conspirators.

The 11th, Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the communist party, already is serving a year in jail for contempt of Congress.

Over the weekend the government asked the Second U. S. Court of Appeals here to lift the bail and put all the men in jail.

Hammond, Tawes Have Mahoney's Best Wishes

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14 (AP)—Attorney General Hall Hammond still has George P. Mahoney's best wishes. And so does State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes.

Hammond and Tawes, in separate letters to Mahoney, told him this weekend they are on the ticket of Gov. Lane in more than name—that they will campaign for Lane and against Mahoney for the Democratic nomination for governor.

In reply, Mahoney sent letters to the Attorney General and the Comptroller, both of whom are unopposed for renomination.

Local Man Hurt In N. Y. Accident

A Cumberland business man was injured in an accident in New York State Friday when his truck and an automobile collided in Mariners Harbor, killing a six-year-old boy and injuring four others.

The Staten Island Advance listed the local man as Guy Brande, 44, of Cumberland, Md., and said he was in St. Vincent's Hospital. Brande, a local novelty company operator, resides at 622 North Centre Street.

Mrs. Brande said last night she was advised that her husband suffered only minor injuries in the crash and is expected to return to Cumberland today.

The Advance said the impact of the collision "stove in one side of the small car," in which the child was riding. The child, Howard Perrigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Perrigan, Sr., of Manhattan, died in the hospital a few hours after admittance.

The driver of the automobile Zella Chambers, 25, Brooklyn, told police after the crash that she couldn't recall what happened. She was given a summons, returnable August 21 in magistrates court, for not carrying a driver's license.

Authorities said Brande declined to discuss the accident until he had consulted an attorney.

Gang Robs Bank Car Of $6,000

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14 (AP)—A gang of armed bandits intercepted a bank messenger car today and escaped with $6,000 loot in a stolen getaway car whose owner was locked in the trunk.

Fred W. Bounds, one of two guards in the bank automobile, told police the robbery was executed with split-second precision when he stopped at a Northwest Baltimore boulevard intersection.

Half an hour later police got a telephone call from James Washington, 28-year-old negro. He said he had just freed himself from his automobile trunk, where a gunman had imprisoned him at 3 a. m., almost seven hours before the holdup.

Investigators said Washington's vehicle apparently was the one used by the bandits.

Bounds and a fellow guard, Howard Heiser, reported they were confronted by three negro gunmen as they stopped behind another automobile at the boulevard.

Bounds said, "the man on my side put a gun behind my ear and said, 'don't move or I'll blow your brains out.' The two on Heiser's side poked guns over the partly lowered window and made him unlock the door.

"Then they took our guns from our holsters. One of the men picked up the suitcase on the floor in back of the front seat. All three of them then ran to the car in front of us and jumped in. The driver turned down Druid Hill Avenue."

Car Kills Daughter Of Late Buddy Clark

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14 (AP) — Penny Clark, seven-year-old daughter of the late Buddy Clark, was killed today when she darted in front of a car near her home.

For Mrs. Nedra Clark, 31, the widow and mother, the death marked another cruel milestone in a tragic lifetime.

Police said Penny dashed away from her nurse at a busy intersection to join playmates across the street.

Mrs. Clark, once picked as America's most beautiful brunette, faced her major tragedy when her first husband went berserk in 1941 and stabbed their two-year-old son and her mother to death. A button which deflected the blade saved her own life. The husband, William M. Evans, now is serving a life sentence in the Illinois state penitentiary.

Last Oct. 1, Clark, a top crooner, was killed in an air crash at the height of his fame.

U. S. May Ask Allies To Boost Arms Effort

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP) —The United States today was reported ready to call on its Atlantic pact partners to boost even further the stepped-up rearmament effort they have proposed.

Informed officials said the overall defense increases outlined by America's Atlantic pact allies appear to fall short of what the U. S. believes is necessary to forge an effective barrier to communist aggression in Western Europe.

American defense experts who have been analyzing the new programs, say that while they are "definitely a step in the right direction," few match in proportion the scope and speed of the U. S. rearmament drive.

The contest was a highlight of the weekly teenage dance held in the Cresaptown Fire Hall.

Explosives Train Causes Jitters

PERT AMBOY, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP) —A 21-car freight train plastered with signs reading "high explosives" was stalled in the station for two and a half hours in blast-conscious Perth Amboy today.

The train parked in the center of this 50,000-population city, set off a series of jittery calls to police headquarters. Police said the residents wanted the train moved quickly.

Perth Amboy is just across the bay from South Amboy where 31 persons died and hundreds were injured last May. The blast littered this city with debris.

A trainman said the trouble was a broken rail further along the line.

Ship Shells Reds

TOKYO, Tuesday, Aug. 15 (AP)—An American heavy cruiser ranged to within 100 miles of Soviet Russian territory to shell military targets on the North Korean east coast yesterday.

A Far East naval headquarters release today said the cruiser went above the 41st parallel in quest of worthwhile targets. It opened its guns on unidentified railway marshalling yards, factories, and bridges.

Lane Censures Primary Rival

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14 (AP) — Gov. Lane said today George P. Mahoney's campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination has reached a "new low" with a "whole list of sheer fabrications" about the state mental hospitals.

Lane, in a statement also, censured what he termed Mahoney's "completely unfounded attack on the personal integrity of Dr. Clifton T. Perkins, commissioner of mental hygiene and one of the country's foremost psychiatric hospital administrators."

The Governor's blast was in reply to weekend attack by his chief primary rival on the handling of Maryland's mental hospitals.

Mahoney—Baltimore contracting firm head and former State Racing Commission chairman — said Dr. Perkins was still only a "part-time employe" of Maryland with a continuing interest in Massachusetts "which calls for his leaving our state."

Massachusetts formerly employed Dr. Perkins in a capacity equivalent to his present post here.

Said Lane:

"The truth of the matter is that Dr. Perkins has been away from his office only once since coming to Maryland x x x.

"That was to attend the graduation exercises of his daughter at Bates College; to receive an honorary degree himself from that college; and, while in New England, to interview 42 professional people interested in taking jobs in the Maryland hospitals."

In reply, Mahoney sent letters to the Attorney General and the Comptroller, both of whom are unopposed for renomination.

Four Children Being Treated For Polio

Four children in the Cumberland area are being treated for mild forms of infantile paralysis, Allegany County Health Department officials confirmed yesterday. Three of the cases have developed within the past two weeks.

The four children are Frank Allen Clark, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Clark, Sr., Ridgeley; Donald Hite, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hite, Sr., Corriganville; Richard Joseph Dunn, 11-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dunn, Mt. Savage, and Christina Ray, 19-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ray, 309 Beall Street.

All except the Clark boy, who became ill about August 4 with the case being reported August 10, have been isolated and are receiving treatment at their homes, officials said. The Clark youth is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Mt. Savage Case First

The Hite boy became ill August 4, officials said, and the case was reported to the Health Department six days later.

The first case reported in the area this year was that of the Dunn child who became ill July 23. Physicians diagnosed the case as infantile paralysis the following day. It was not until July 30, however, that details of the case were made public. The baby is receiving treatment at the Dunn home on Foundry Row, Mt. Savage.

Health Department officials have been subjected to strong criticism by a number of parents of West Side children since the case of the Ray child became known Saturday.

The attending physician states he reported it to the Health Department on August 7, but it was not until Saturday that The Evening Times learned of the case from persons living in the neighborhood.

One mother in the neighborhood said that countless numbers of children have been needlessly exposed to the disease because its presence was not announced immediately by the Health Department. She said that health officials warned parents to take special care in guarding their children against polio and then did not help protect them.

She also stated that four adults and four children live at the home of the Ray baby on Beall Street and could very easily have spread the disease.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, was ill at home and could not be contacted for a reply to the criticism.

Polio's Challenge

800 'Lungs' Flown To Victims In 1949's Greatest Epidemic

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Not one choking polio victim died for lack of an iron lung in last year's greatest epidemic.

Eight hundred emergency calls for these lungs were answered by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The lungs travelled by air. They crossed and recrossed the continent and one was flown to the Cunarder Parthia 400 miles at sea.

On a single weekend, Lee Schmid of the foundation, using only his home telephone, sent out 45 lungs. He heads the foundation's division of technical equipment, which has the iron lung layout mapped for the entire country.

There are 3,000 of these lungs, owned by hospitals, fire departments, life-saving stations and individuals. For last summer's epidemic the foundation used 200 of its own respirators and borrowed 250 others to fill polio requests.

Schmid's work is organized like a train dispatcher. It included hot pack machines and other supplies. For the lungs, six pool systems are maintained. These are at Boston, Columbus, Ohio, Atlanta, Denver, San Antonio and Portland, Oregon. Spare respirators are kept on hand at each station.

Before each weekend an estimate is made of the number of emergency calls that might be made on each station on the double holidays. Columbus, for example, sent word one Friday that it had only two on hand. Five were picked up immediately at Boston, but before the plane reached Columbus, Detroit sent an emergency call asking for three. The plane was still in the air, and radio redirected it to Willow run, where three were unloaded for Detroit. The plane then carried the remaining two to Columbus.

One weekend California asked for ten. Two were flown from Arkansas by the National Guard. Three were flown from Boston by the Air Force. Three from San Antonio by Air Force and two from Mitchel Field, N. Y., by Air Force. The Mitchel Field crew had just returned from flying four respirators to Columbus.

The foundation sends lungs by commercial airlines wherever possible. On weekends freight planes usually are not flying, and military or air transport planes takes over. Commercial flights are paid for, the government planes are free.

Early this year Atlanta received a call for two respirators, one for Miami and one for Jacksonville. In five hours both patients were in the lungs.

The foundation last year spent $330,000 on iron lungs, including new equipment, repairs, storage and transportation. The tank type, in which the patient lies with his head out at one end, costs $1,500 and weighs about 700 pounds. The chest type, which is largely of plastic and straps on, costs $1,200.

Medical care and nursing in severe iron lung cases is sometimes high. One respiratory case may cost $10,000 a year.

Safety Campaign To Start Soon

A back-to-school safety campaign will be conducted by the Cumberland Police Department next month in cooperation with state traffic authorities, Chief R. Emmett Flynn announced.

Flynn pointed out that children should be taught safety by demonstration and example as well as by study, and parents should teach children self reliance based upon knowledge of how to behave safely in traffic.

He said motorists should constantly watch for signs of children in the vicinity and observe utmost caution when driving during the school season.

He passed on these simple precautionary rules:

Do not speed unnecessarily and respect stop signs and traffic lights; do not weave in and out of traffic lanes, racing past lines of cars on the other side of the double white line painted on the highway, and do not drive when fatigued, drowsy or under the influence of intoxicants.

Arthur H. Brice, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, has suggested the following plan for parents to train their children in traffic safety:

"As soon as your child is able to walk and accompany you in crossing streets you should emphasize your own safe walking habits, explaining the procedure of watching for cars, crossing at corners, obeying traffic signals and so forth as he becomes old enough to understand.

"However, if this training has been overlooked until your child is almost ready to enter school, concentrated training in safe walking habits should be conducted during the weeks preceding his entrance into school."

Water Shortage In LaVale Area

A shortage of water is reported by residents of the Allegany Grove section who are served by the LaVale Water Company.

Completion of the new water line being constructed under the guidance of the LaVale Sanitary Commission from the city limits to LaVale is not likely before November, officials said yesterday. When completed this line will supply the entire LaVale area.

Lack of rain has caused the shortage in the Allegany Grove area which has been occurring each summer for a number of years and which prompted the formation of the commission by LaVale residents.

One woman said that during the first 14 days of this month there has been no water available and on some previous days water has been obtainable only part time.

In a recent case in Circuit Court the LaVale Water Company property and business was valued at $95,000 by a jury which heard a condemnation case brought by the LaVale Sanitary Commission.

Attorneys for the commission said today that a motion for a new trial will be heard August 31 in court here.

The commission feels that the valuation placed on the LaVale Company property is excessive. It has indicated that unless a settlement of the price for the LaVale Water Company property is not made in the next few months it will construct its own auxiliary lines.

Five Injured In Car-Truck Crash

An auto-truck crash yesterday morning on Route 220 at Dawson injured five Keyser persons.

Miss Betty Jane Blacka, 504 Newton Street, sustained a deep laceration of the lip and a cut over her right eye. She was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital at Keyser.

Margaret A. Dolan, Elliott Runner, James W. Blacka, Jr., and Alonzo Urice suffered minor lacerations and abrasions. They were also treated at Potomac Valley Hospital.

Trooper First Class George Coddington, who investigated, said James Blacka, driving a 1940 sedan, struck a 1940 truck driven by Therman Wilson Rexroad as Rexroad was coming from a side road to Route 220.

Trooper Coddington charged Rexroad with failing to grant right-of-way and Blacka with reckless driving.

Both of the vehicles were driving south. In the sedan were workers from the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company returning from work.

Design For Conquest By Dictator Stalin

From Josef Stalin comes a new statement declaring in effect that he will continue to use the monolithic Russian state as a tool to achieve a communist world—even though he must defy Marxist dogma in so doing. That is the gist of the most important pronouncement he made in three letters that have just been published by the magazine Bolshevik, the party's most authoritative mouthpiece.

Stalin did not express himself in quite these terms. What he did was restate a view he expressed before World War II—that the Soviet state cannot weaken itself as long as Russia is surrounded by capitalist nations, regardless of the orthodox dictum that the state must "wither away" under communism, but must become ever more powerful. To quote a key paragraph from one of his letters in Bolshevik:

"On the basis of a study of the world situation in our time, when the Soviet Marxist revolution occurs in only one country, and capitalism reigns in all other countries, then the country where the revolution triumphed must not weaken, but must do its utmost to strengthen its state, its state organs, its intelligence organs, and the army, if this country doesn't want to be crushed by capitalist encirclement."

Communists who hold otherwise, who believe that the principles enunciated by Marx and Engels are good for all times and all occasions are "exegetes and Talmudists" in Stalin's estimation. Lenin, who held that communism could triumph in one country, is treated more respectfully. Lenin was right in his day, says Stalin, but his doctrine doesn't quite fit any longer.

If the Stalin dictum sounds defensive, it has a different ring when placed in its proper setting. He had other pre-war ideas that need to be reviewed. In his "Problems of Leninism" he outlined a program for extending the communist system all over the world. He suggested beginning with the weaker countries, and converting them one by one through propaganda, infiltration, subversion, and, if all other means failed, open war. If he thinks now, as he did then, that a dictatorship is necessary in Russia, he is thinking of conquest.

German Arms For France

A French Foreign Office spokesman has put up a trial balloon which, if it reflects the thinking of the new cabinet, represents a complete flip flop in French policy toward Germany.

It is proposed that Germany make arms for France. Even up to a few months ago such a thought would have been viewed with something akin to sheer horror at Paris. In the face of the lowering Soviet threat to western Europe, it reflects a certain measure of Gallic horse sense.

The proposal entails lifting the restrictions on German arms manufacture and channeling these products into the arsenals of the West. Presumably France would be the greatest beneficiary, but the contribution such a scheme would make to the German economy and western preparedness would be considerable.

There is little doubt that France is looking at this plan seriously only because it is the lesser of several evils. It will be remembered that France was the footdragger when it came to setting up German industry after the last war. There was good reason for the delay and the distrust. German armies have overrun France three times within three-quarters of a century.

Germany can't turn to making articles of war overnight. With West German industry rolling at about half of pre-war capacity, it stands to reason that a rather lengthy period of retooling would pass before the fruits of the plan would be in the hands of French armed forces.

Naturally France would keep a wary eye on any German activity having to do with arms, but this should be an automatic reflex on the part of the French. There is risk here, but it appears to be a calculated one. It is believed the majority of western European heads will approve of France going through with it.

Needed Survey

With nobody knowing just what a big business concern can do and still remain within the confines of the anti-trust law, there is obvious need for the independent study of monopolies just announced by the Harvard Graduate School of Public Administration.

This survey, which will require five years to complete and will engage the services of nine economists from as many universities, is financed by the Merrill Foundation for the Advancement of Financial Knowledge. As such it is entirely divorced from the government.

Some explorations in this particular field already have been made under the auspices of the foundation. These further inquiries promise to be much more expansive and to cover such matters as the whys and wherefores of anti-trust decrees, the effectiveness of present-day competition, and the means for helping markets to function properly.

The final volume of the seven-volume series will contain analyses and recommendations. Perhaps then there will be presented to Congress a proposal for an anti-monopoly law so clear in its phrasing and so definite in its provisions that no business firm of any size will find it necessary to wonder whether it is operating legally.

As it is now—as has been recently brought into bold relief—many large businesses can never be sure when they will run afoul of the Department of Justice.

How Things Change

A year ago not even the most optimistic Navy adherent would have given the supercarrier "United States" another lease on life. At the time the Navy was back in the farthest corner of its doghouse. Backers of the B-36 and the "single weapon" concept of warfare seemed to have won the day.

Well, this is mid-August, 1950. In Korea GI's are doing what comes naturally and hollering for air support. The Navy is mounting carrier strikes almost as fast as flight crews can ready the planes. Both Army and Navy wish there were more carriers to mount more strikes.

Now comes the news that the Navy's newest appropriation from Congress includes funds for remodernizing, converting, or building a total of 112 ships. Congressman Robeson of Virginia says he wouldn't be surprised to see the giant flattop, over which there was so much squabbling, afloat and in operation within a reasonable period of time. My, how things do change!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Frustration May Lead To Insanity

SCHIZOPHRENIA is one of the most common forms of insanity. The disease is most prevalent in young and middle aged men and women and requires specialized care over a long period of time. In this respect it is a costly illness but treatment is worthwhile, considering the large number who return to normal.

Frustration is one of the main causes. But this is not the entire story because the majority of individuals who become frustrated do not develop schizophrenia. Heredity is a factor, as well as unpleasant incidents in childhood. It also seems to favor those with a certain body build or figure. The "fatty," for example, seems to escape. This type enjoys eating and sociability; when frustrated he is likely to compensate by filling his "belly." The athletic man or woman also has a way of overcoming difficulties. When crossed, the man is likely took for the responsible person to "get it off his chest." The exception occurs when he cannot find the enemy and then becomes suspicious of innocent persons.

But the aesthetic or thin individual is more susceptible to this form of mental illness. He prefers to exercise his brain and is somewhat inhibited socially and physically. Contrary to what might be expected, he is unable to think his way through when he becomes frustrated. In other words, anxieties and fears clutter up the mind so that his "thinker" goes to pieces.

The majority of schizophrenics become mentally deranged because they develop a frustration beyond tolerance. Their personality is such that they cannot adapt to situations as they arise. Furthermore, a vicious cycle is set up; the more frustrated the more disorganized their behavior. This in turn disrupts adaptive processes so that they become baffled over minor and insignificant problems. This is the reason why the insane appear to be worrying about unnecessary details and why it is useless for the novice to tell them not to be concerned about this or that.

• — • — •

It is generally believed that the groundwork for this disorder is laid during youth. The most disturbing frustrations occur when the people who are interested in offer us something we need but demand too much in return. Children, for example, need love from their parents but if the price is too high they become candidates for emotional disorders. Frustration also is more prone to take place in boys and girls who lack dexterity or aptitude in sports. The same can be said of those who have no friends or hobbies or who are afraid of the opposite sex. A dominating, perfectionist mother may contribute.

Such youngsters have no way of asserting their wishes except in day dreaming. In time they retreat more and more into a world of fantasy. The latter replaces reality; the "thinker" becomes so preoccupied with himself that he withdraws into a world or shell of his own. This is typical schizophrenia, and intensive care along with shock treatment will be needed to bring him back to reality.

TOMORROW: The malignant phase of high blood pressure.

SIMILAR SYMPTOMS

J. Q. Writes: Are the symptoms of rheumatic fever and unlulant fever somewhat the same?

REPLY

Yes, but joint pains and heart findings usually are more marked in the former. Moreover, rheumatic fever is more prevalent in children; in undulant fever, the afflicted individual looks surprisingly well despite the illness. However, the laboratory cannot be fooled and can differentiate between the two conditions.

NECROTIC TISSUE

H. G. writes: Is gangrene curable by surgery?

REPLY

Gangrenous tissue is dead tissue and usually sloughs away or must be removed surgically. If only a thin layer of skin is affected the chances are good that it will be replaced. Conversely, if an entire toe is involved, it will be lost inasmuch as a new toe will not re-form.

ARTHRITIS AND REDUCING

K. M. writes: Is it safe for a person with arthritis to reduce?

REPLY

Yes, and many are benefited, especially when the disease involves the knees and back. In rheumatoid arthritis, cautious dieting is the best policy because it is important for the victim to be in a good state of health at all times.

SUN EFFECT

R. U. writes: My mother gets a headache every time she goes out in the sun. How can this be prevented?

This reaction may be due to heat or to the brightness of the sun's rays. She should wear tinted lenses and a wide brimmed hat.

Truman Sent Harriman To Tokyo For MacArthur's Delayed Report; Soviet Delegate Malik Is In Kremlin's Doghouse

By JACK ANDERSON and FRED BLUMENTHAL

ED. NOTE—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by members of his staff.)

WASHINGTON. — Yesterday we suggested organizing home - front committees to stimulate public opinion against "me-firsters"—the war profiteers and hoarders.

This is what we would like to see stopped:

Last week Franco's hired Washington lobbyist slipped into Garfinckle's Department Store and sheepishly bought out the store's supply of select bed sheets.

Harriman's Trip

The inside reason for Averell Harriman's flying trip to Tokyo wasn't to scold General MacArthur for conferring with Chiang Kai-Shek, as the dopesters have reported. Instead, President Truman simply got impatient waiting for MacArthur's report and sent Harriman to get it.

Ironically, the detailed report reached Washington after Harriman was already enroute. So he made the trip for nothing.

Actually, Truman knew in advance that MacArthur planned to meet Chiang Kai-Shek—though the time hadn't been set. The President also didn't trust Secretary of Defense Johnson to relay an accurate report, because of Johnson's strong Pro-Chiang sympathies.

Malik In Doghouse

Inside the U. N. Security Council: Soviet delegate Jacob Malik is in the Kremlin doghouse because he let U. S. delegate Warren Austin needle him into saying that the only Russian arms possessed by the North Koreans were those "which we sold them when Soviet forces withdrew from Korea."

This is the first time Malik or any other Soviet leader has admitted that the North Koreans are using Soviet weapons.

More important, from the standpoint of the United States, it will make wonderful propaganda if we discover any Soviet military equipment in Korea that wasn't there when the Russians withdrew. This would expose Malik as a liar before the world.

For instance, we have positive knowledge that the Russians had no jet planes in Korea at the time they departed in December, 1947. So if the North Koreans turn up with jet planes, they must have come from Russia after the withdrawal.

Also, as one top official in the United States delegation explained: "Malik's statement will certainly bar the Russians from supplying the North Koreans with new arms from here on in."

NOTE—Andrei Gromyko, Malik's predecessor, is masterminding the Soviet delegate from Moscow. However, it's a cinch that the much cleverer Gromyko didn't coach Malick to make the "arms" statement.

Weird Alibi

Senator Brewster's weird alibi about being trailed by a New York "gangster" is breaking down. The Maine senator told this yarn to explain how he happened to meet Washington Police Lieutenant Joe Shimon, the wire-tapper. The story goes that Shimon was supposed to investigate who was trailing Brewster, got $100 to $125 for "expenses."

Such an important police assignment, however, would have to be reported at police headquarters. Yet Police Chief Barrett claims no report was ever filed. Barrett also points out that it is against police regulations to take "expense money."

"Indoctrination" On Communism

In preparation for the coming campaign, House GOP members are getting some expert "indoctrination" on communism is a series of three secret lectures

The last of these lectures, scheduled for tomorrow night at Washington's Hotel Continental, will be made by James Burnham, a former Marxist now on the faculty of New York University.

Recently returned from Europe, Burnham will discuss "Soviet strategy for world conquest." Last week Dr. Stefan Possony, a Viennese who teaches geopolitics at Georgetown University, spoke on "American and Soviet foreign policies."

The week before GOP congressmen got a closed-door briefing on "Stalin's international apparatus" by Josef Zach, a former communist and member of the party's central executive committee in the United States.

All three lecturers bear down on the fact that we are too "soft" with communists and haven't done an effective counterpropaganda job. The GOP politicos are being urged by their leaders to make campaign speeches tieing in this "professional" data on red activities with "laxity" by the Democratic administration.

GOP Leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts frankly told his colleagues at the first secret session that the lectures would provide good "campaign material."

MATTER OF FACT

The Battle; First Phase

WITH U. S. FORCES IN KOREA

THE first part of the American problem in Korea is to hold where we are. The fighting here still mainly consists of desperate, improvised defensive actions by exhausted and over-driven American and South Korean troops. The problem's second part, however, is to retake lost ground. And thus there is particular interest in our first offensive battle, on the approaches of the dirty little seaport of Chinju, which this reporter watched from its beginning.

The battlefield, the southwest Korean coast, is like a mixture of the coast of Maine with a Chinese romantic landscape—all precipitous pine-clad mountain slopes, luminous blue bays among green cliffs, and narrow, terraced valleys where the thatched mud villages seem to grow like mushrooms from the brilliant green rice paddies. But with the few roads which are mere narrow, dusty tracks, and the key heights rising to two thousand feet or more, this is a better country to look at than to fight over in heats above ninety degrees.

The battle's purposes were, first, to gain room to protect our only good Korean harbor, Pusan; and second, to occupy positions threatening the rear of the main enemy forces now attacking our Naktong River defense line further north.

The forces engaged in the battle were, on the enemy side, the somewhat understrength North Korean Sixth Division, with few tanks and no air; and on our side, the equivalent of a strongly reinforced division with powerful artillery, armor and air support. In order to scrape together this "task force Kean" which was named for its able leader, Major General William B. Kean, the American commander in Korea, Lieutenant General Walton H. Walker had had to impose cruel extra efforts on his other units.

The battle began on August 6, with air preparation. Our reconnaissance aircraft had already been searching out the enemy artillery, armor and transport, ammunition dumps and supply points. From dawn to dusk on August 6, bombs and rockets were laid down on these targets by over a hundred sorties.

Tough, Adaptable Fighters

The response of the North Koreans set the battle's pattern. The air preparation virtually reduced their forward elements to isolated bodies of infantry, supplied only by runners and supported only by such artillery as they had managed to conceal from our aircraft. But these tough fighters quickly adapted themselves to the new situation, either taking on the character of long-range penetration groups, or digging in on commanding mountain peaks. Throughout their ability to find their way among and climb the mountains was the advantage of the North Koreans, while our advantages were air supremacy and vastly heavier artillery fire power.

On the night of August 6, our troops moved up for the jump off—convoy after interminable convoy of transport and tanks and guns crawling over narrow mountain roads, past deep precipices, in pitch darkness. In the jolting trucks, the mood was at once tense and exhausted, for almost all the men were too young to have experienced combat and—such was the haste of preparation—very few had experienced much sleep in the past few days.

In the hot, pearly dawn of August 7, at 6:30 a. m., the jump off took place. The battle plan was simple. Two main, parallel roads traverse the coastal area that was our objective. The upper road was assigned to the 35th Regimental Combat Team (which is a self-contained force of three infantry battalions with its own tanks and artillery).

Meanwhile, on the more important coastal road, the Fifth Regimental Combat Team was to lead the attack as far as a road junction where another track forked off through the sea cliffs. Here the 1st Marine Brigade was to come through, and the Marines and 5th and 35th Regimental Combat Teams were then to go forward abreast, with the Negro troops of the 24th Regimental Combat Team guarding the rear.

On the upper road, all went well. The 35th R.C.T. took the key heights early. The main enemy force in this sector was located in a little village and brought under heavy fire. By late afternoon Col. Henry G. Fisher was calling for bulldozers to cover the North Korean dead. But on the crucial coastal road it was very different.

Here, in the pre-dawn darkness, our troops had failed to occupy the crest of a sugar loaf mountain commanding the route of advance. The spearhead outfit, the 5th R.C.T. was both very green and uncertainly led. And the sun had hardly broken over the rice paddies and mountains when both Marines and Infantry were attacked by the enemy. Perhaps because the action was so relatively small, the scene was very vivid.

Pattern Emerging

Steep mountains rose sharply from a broad valley cut by a small, clear, rocky stream. On one mountainside puffs of smoke indicated artillery hits on the Marine command post, and the Marine guns barked back. In a command post sheltered by the other mountainside, officers and men of the 5th R.C.T. milled about dubiously until they too were brought under mortar fire. Communications broke down repeatedly, but at intervals the telephone brought news of one company cut off, another halted, another threatend by infiltration on its flank. Under the blazing sun, a long file of Marines walked out

Mistaken Policies Prior To Korea Are Continuing

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—This is the story of what just a few "if's" could have meant to the fathers and mothers of those boys who are fighting against great odds in Korea and to the fathers and mothers of those boys soon to fight—they all should know more about why the battles have been going against us.

1. If, in addition to the three big aircraft carriers in the Pacific, six more were in operation off the coast of Korea—and we have available 17 large-sized and 60 smaller-sized carriers still in "mothballs" — there would conceivably be no loss of the port of Pohang today and no loss of the valuable air strip behind it thus leaving us only one airfield behind our lines in South Korea.

2. If, along with the light cruisers and destroyers, there was in Korean waters a division of four battleships —we have several in "mothballs"— there would not be a railroad operating within 12 miles inland on either coast and no substantial amount of supplies would be able to move down from North Korea, Russia or communist China. The big 16-inch shells of the battleships, firing from short distances offshore with unerring aim in all kinds of weather, can do more damage by steady bombardment than can be done by similar projectiles dropped indiscriminately from high altitudes by the large bombers at infrequent intervals. If the battleship Missouri had only been stationed in the Far East, the news would be different today.

Not Enough Planes

3. If there were nine big aircraft carriers off the Korean coast with a total of approximately 900 planes aboard, there could be 24-hour bombing and strafing and air artillery support given to our ground troop movements. As it is, the enemy moves men and supplies at night and we do not have enough planes there with those flares giving a huge candlepower of illumination to carry on strafing and bombing around the clock.

4. If enough of the big aircraft carriers of the Navy were in Korean waters, the ground troops would not have to worry about protecting the only two air strips they have had behind their lines. For planes dependent on ground bases alone must remain there for servicing part of the time and this leaves them open to attack by enemy artillery or planes. The aircraft carrier, on the other hand, moves its floating base off shore at will and is ready 24 hours a day to attack or defend itself because it gets a vast amount of anti-aircraft protection from the cruisers and destroyers that surround it in what is known as a "carrier task force."

5. If the American people had been properly informed, they would never have consented to the sabotage of U. S. naval aviation carried on during the last three years by the generals in the Pentagon and their civilian secretary supporters who placed all the emphasis on intercontinental bombing over the Atlantic and forgot the 8,000-mile distances in the Pacific and its trouble areas.

Some of the same misconceptions which resulted in mistaken policies before the Korean war are being perpetuated today in the news dispatches and official communiques. The work of all airmen is lumped together and the same stories are widely printed as heretofore about the weight of the total number of bombs dropped—as if this has anything to do with the effectiveness of the fire if targets are missed as they were repeatedly by high-flying bombers in the last war and as official reports and surveys testified.

The recent news dispatches and official releases do not clearly differentiate, for example, between the frequent and numerous sorties flown by U. S. Naval Air Force fliers from the decks of carriers just a few miles offshore and the fewer sorties necessarily flown from distant bases in Japan at less frequent intervals and with less time over the targets by U. S. Air Force fliers. The Air Force isn't getting proper credit for these hazardous missions. In the announcements, the total of the sorties is combined and the public doesn't know what each service is doing—and Congress is not learning what to provide to strengthen our airpower in all its phases.

Designation Needed

There is needed a definite designation for the Navy flyers. They have a right to be given a separate name, such as the U. S. Naval Air Force. The news dispatches and official communiques should enable the reader to identify these three different air operations:

1. Flying from Japanese land bases, the high-flying strategic bombers of the U. S. Air Force when engaged in strategic bombing or medium bombers when engaged so bravely in strafing for which they are not fitted. Such hazardous and extraordinary missions deserve great praise.

2. Air support for ground troops furnished by Marine Corps aviators flying from the decks of naval carriers and the naval flyers also from these carriers.

3. Low-level dive-bombing of a strategic nature done by the aviators of the U. S. Naval Air Force flying from the broad decks of aircraft carriers. These fliers stay over the targets for hours at a time because they do not have to fly back long distances and they fly low enough to see what they are aiming at. They do not, moreover, kill noncombatants unless the latter happen to be right at the targets, and this is something of growing importance if the Korean population isn't to be turned against us because of indiscriminate bombing from high altitudes.

These three differentiations are necessary also to build up the morale and fighting spirit of each of the three services engaged in air operations, to stimulate the reserves in training, and to help recruiting.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Book Reviews

THE "New York Times" and "New York Herald Tribune" have virtually established a monopoly in book reviews through their weekly supplements, which are widely read throughout the country. Publishers generally find it advantageous to advertise in these supplements, thus avoiding the more expensive effort of making their wares known to prospective customers by advertising generally in a large number of newspapers and magazines.

Thus, a conscious effort has been made to establish these book supplements as authoritative, although a book review, to be authoritative, needs to be done by a scholar of equal rank, if not superior, to the author. For instance, Oppenheimer on Einstein might be called authoritative, but Einstein on Pareto would be just one man's opinion, worth what it may be.

Also, if these reviews are to be worthy of attention there should be no log-rolling, no cliques, no claques, no friends boosting friends. That, of course, is a problem of editing.

In my particular field, the Far East, I have found a degeneration of scholarship and a tendency both in the "Times" and the "Herald Tribune" to accept the line of the Institute of Pacific Relations and the Alger Hiss clique of the State Department.

So, when Owen Lattimore's book, "Ordeal by Slander," appeared—a book of self-confessed martrydom—the "Herald Tribune" used as reviewer John K. Fairbank of Harvard. According to Lattimore's book, Fairbank is his personal partisan, leading in the fight to justify Lattimore and to break down Senator Joe McCarthy.

In a word, John K. Fairbank is not an objective scholar in this matter but a supporter of the author; in fact, he played a direct and personal role in the martyrdom. This is what Lattimore has to say on the subject:

"John Fairbank, at Harvard, sent out telegrams to a long list of Far Eastern experts all over the country, suggesting that they write to Senator Tydings, the chairman of the committee."

Yet, the editor of the "Herald Tribune" featured a review of Lattimore's book by this same John Fairbank, putting it on the front page, which is regarded highly in this monopolistic book review business. Fairbank has for several years been a Chiang Kai-Shek opponent, a Chinese Nationalist baiter. He has a right to his opinions and judgments, although they do not stand up today in the face of Soviet Russia's conquest of China and the death of our boys in Korea.

That, however, is not my present theme, which is to inquire how it is possible to trust the reliability of these book reviews when the editors select as reviewers self-professed partisans and associates of the authors. This has happened not once but often.

It could almost be said that in Far Eastern matters, during the past 10 years, it has always happened; the book supplements, in effect, instructing publishers by this indirect process that books favorable to the cause of Nationalist China or opposed to communist China or even inquiring into the bona fides of Russia's conduct in China are likely to be assailed, assaulted and their authors maligned by a clique that has, by doctrinaire concepts, brought this country into another war and close to disaster.

I make no reference to the reviewers themselves nor to Lattimore's book. Time will undoubtedly establish the truth in these matters. The Tydings investigation was nothing of the sort. It made no study; produced no evidence of value; and suppressed important data. Someday, an investigation will be made of the foreign policy of the United States since 1934 when the Harold Ware communist cell was organized in Washington. Maybe, it will be done by a congressional committee or by some objective scholar like the late Charles A. Beard. Then we shall get at the truth.

As it is now, there are half-facts, half-truths, leads, assumptions and doubts in all directions. I possess a vast amount of data, all of which I believe to be true and none of which I can, at this juncture, prove. Others are in the same position. Links that could provide the truth are missing. Documents essential to proof are unavailable.

But in time, it will all appear and we shall know why we lost World War II and why we find ourselves fighting in World War III.

Design For Conquest By Dictator Stalin

From Josef Stalin comes a new statement declaring in effect that he will continue to use the monolithic Russian state as a tool to achieve a communist world—even though he must defy Marxist dogma in so doing. That is the gist of the most important pronouncement he made in three letters that have just been published by the magazine Bolshevik, the party's most authoritative mouthpiece.

Stalin did not express himself in quite these terms. What he did was restate a view he expressed before World War II—that the Soviet state cannot weaken itself as long as Russia is surrounded by capitalist nations, regardless of the orthodox dictum that the state must "wither away" under communism, but must become ever more powerful. To quote a key paragraph from one of his letters in Bolshevik:

"On the basis of a study of the world situation in our time, when the Soviet Marxist revolution occurs in only one country, and capitalism reigns in all other countries, then the country where the revolution triumphed must not weaken, but must do its utmost to strengthen its state, its state organs, its intelligence organs, and the army, if this country doesn't want to be crushed by capitalist encirclement."

Communists who hold otherwise, who believe that the principles enunciated by Marx and Engels are good for all times and all occasions are "exegetes and Talmudists" in Stalin's estimation. Lenin, who held that communism could triumph in one country, is treated more respectfully. Lenin was right in his day, says Stalin, but his doctrine doesn't quite fit any longer.

If the Stalin dictum sounds defensive, it has a different ring when placed in its proper setting. He had other pre-war ideas that need to be reviewed. In his "Problems of Leninism" he outlined a program for extending the communist system all over the world. He suggested beginning with the weaker countries, and converting them one by one through propaganda, infiltration, subversion, and, if all other means failed, open war. If he thinks now, as he did then, that a dictatorship is necessary in Russia, he is thinking of conquest.

German Arms For France

A French Foreign Office spokesman has put up a trial balloon which, if it reflects the thinking of the new cabinet, represents a complete flip flop in French policy toward Germany.

It is proposed that Germany make arms for France. Even up to a few months ago such a thought would have been viewed with something akin to sheer horror at Paris. In the face of the lowering Soviet threat to western Europe, it reflects a certain measure of Gallic horse sense.

The proposal entails lifting the restrictions on German arms manufacture and channeling these products into the arsenals of the West. Presumably France would be the greatest beneficiary, but the contribution such a scheme would make to the German economy and western preparedness would be considerable.

There is little doubt that France is looking at this plan seriously only because it is the lesser of several evils. It will be remembered that France was the footdragger when it came to setting up German industry after the last war. There was good reason for the delay and the distrust. German armies have overrun France three times within three-quarters of a century.

Germany can't turn to making articles of war overnight. With West German industry rolling at about half of pre-war capacity, it stands to reason that a rather lengthy period of retooling would pass before the fruits of the plan would be in the hands of French armed forces.

Naturally France would keep a wary eye on any German activity having to do with arms, but this should be an automatic reflex on the part of the French. There is risk here, but it appears to be a calculated one. It is believed the majority of western European heads will approve of France going through with it.

Moreover, rheumatic fever is more prevalent in children; in undulant fever, the afflicted individual looks surprisingly well despite the illness. However, the laboratory cannot be fooled and can differentiate between the two conditions.

NECROTIC TISSUE

H. G. writes: Is gangrene curable by surgery?

REPLY

Gangrenous tissue is dead tissue and usually sloughs away or must be removed surgically. If only a thin layer of skin is affected the chances are good that it will be replaced. Conversely, if an entire toe is involved, it will be lost inasmuch as a new toe will not re-form.

ARTHRITIS AND REDUCING

K. M. writes: Is it safe for a person with arthritis to reduce?

REPLY

Yes, and many are benefited, especially when the disease involves the knees and back. In rheumatoid arthritis, cautious dieting is the best policy because it is important for the victim to be in a good state of health at all times.

SUN EFFECT

R. U. writes: My mother gets a headache every time she goes out in the sun. How can this be prevented?

REPLY

This reaction may be due to heat or to the brightness of the sun's rays. She should wear tinted lenses and a wide brimmed hat.

Say JACK ANDERSON and FRED BLUMENTHAL

ED. NOTE—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by members of his staff.)

WASHINGTON. — Yesterday we suggested organizing home - front committees to stimulate public opinion against "me-firsters"—the war profiteers and hoarders.

This is what we would like to see stopped:

Last week Franco's hired Washington lobbyist slipped into Garfinckle's Department Store and sheepishly bought out the store's supply of select bed sheets.

Harriman's Trip

The inside reason for Averell Harriman's flying trip to Tokyo wasn't to scold General MacArthur for conferring with Chiang Kai-Shek, as the dopesters have reported. Instead, President Truman simply got impatient waiting for MacArthur's report and sent Harriman to get it.

Ironically, the detailed report reached Washington after Harriman was already enroute. So he made the trip for nothing.

Actually, Truman knew in advance that MacArthur planned to meet Chiang Kai-Shek—though the time hadn't been set. The President also didn't trust Secretary of Defense Johnson to relay an accurate report, because of Johnson's strong Pro-Chiang sympathies.

Malik In Doghouse

Inside the U. N. Security Council: Soviet delegate Jacob Malik is in the Kremlin doghouse because he let U. S. delegate Warren Austin needle him into saying that the only Russian arms possessed by the North Koreans were those "which we sold them when Soviet forces withdrew from Korea."

This is the first time Malik or any other Soviet leader has admitted that the North Koreans are using Soviet weapons.

More important, from the standpoint of the United States, it will make wonderful propaganda if we discover any Soviet military equipment in Korea that wasn't there when the Russians withdrew. This would expose Malik as a liar before the world.

For instance, we have positive knowledge that the Russians had no jet planes in Korea at the time they departed in December, 1947. So if the North Koreans turn up with jet planes, they must have come from Russia after the withdrawal.

Also, as one top official in the United States delegation explained: "Malik's statement will certainly bar the Russians from supplying the North Koreans with new arms from here on in."

NOTE—Andrei Gromyko, Malik's predecessor, is masterminding the Soviet delegate from Moscow. However, it's a cinch that the much cleverer Gromyko didn't coach Malick to make the "arms" statement.

Weird Alibi

Senator Brewster's weird alibi about being trailed by a New York "gangster" is breaking down. The Maine senator told this yarn to explain how he happened to meet Washington Police Lieutenant Joe Shimon, the wire-tapper. The story goes that Shimon was supposed to investigate who was trailing Brewster, got $100 to $125 for "expenses."

Such an important police assignment, however, would have to be reported at police headquarters. Yet Police Chief Barrett claims no report was ever filed. Barrett also points out that it is against police regulations to take "expense money."

"Indoctrination" On Communism

In preparation for the coming campaign, House GOP members are getting some expert "indoctrination" on communism is a series of three secret lectures

The last of these lectures, scheduled for tomorrow night at Washington's Hotel Continental, will be made by James Burnham, a former Marxist now on the faculty of New York University.

Recently returned from Europe, Burnham will discuss "Soviet strategy for world conquest." Last week Dr. Stefan Possony, a Viennese who teaches geopolitics at Georgetown University, spoke on "American and Soviet foreign policies."

The week before GOP congressmen got a closed-door briefing on "Stalin's international apparatus" by Josef Zach, a former communist and member of the party's central executive committee in the United States.

All three lecturers bear down on the fact that we are too "soft" with communists and haven't done an effective counterpropaganda job. The GOP politicos are being urged by their leaders to make campaign speeches tieing in this "professional" data on red activities with "laxity" by the Democratic administration.

GOP Leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts frankly told his colleagues at the first secret session that the lectures would provide good "campaign material."

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Battle; First Phase

WITH U. S. FORCES IN KOREA THE first part of the American problem in Korea is to hold where we are. The fighting here still mainly consists of desperate, improvised defensive actions by exhausted and over-driven American and South Korean troops. The problem's second part, however, is to retake lost ground. And thus there is particular interest in our first offensive battle, on the approaches of the dirty little seaport of Chinju, which this reporter watched from its beginning.

The battlefield, the southwest Korean coast, is like a mixture of the coast of Maine with a Chinese romantic landscape—all precipitous pine-clad mountain slopes, luminous blue bays among green cliffs, and narrow, terraced valleys where the thatched mud villages seem to grow like mushrooms from the brilliant green rice paddies. But with the few roads which are mere narrow, dusty tracks, and the key heights rising to two thousand feet or more, this is a better country to look at than to fight over in heats above ninety degrees.

The battle's purposes were, first, to gain room to protect our only good Korean harbor, Pusan; and second, to occupy positions threatening the rear of the main enemy forces now attacking our Naktong River defense line further north.

The forces engaged in the battle were, on the enemy side, the somewhat understrength North Korean Sixth Division, with few tanks and no air; and on our side, the equivalent of a strongly reinforced division with powerful artillery, armor and air support. In order to scrape together this "task force Kean" which was named for its able leader, Major General William B. Kean, the American commander in Korea, Lieutenant General Walton H. Walker had had to impose cruel extra efforts on his other units.

The battle began on August 6, with air preparation. Our reconnaissance aircraft had already been searching out the enemy artillery, armor and transport, ammunition dumps and supply points. From dawn to dusk on August 6, bombs and rockets were laid down on these targets by over a hundred sorties.

Tough, Adaptable Fighters

The response of the North Koreans set the battle's pattern. The air preparation virtually reduced their forward elements to isolated bodies of infantry, supplied only by runners and supported only by such artillery as they had managed to conceal from our aircraft. But these tough fighters quickly adapted themselves to the new situation, either taking on the character of long-range penetration groups, or digging in on commanding mountain peaks. Throughout their ability to find their way among and climb the mountains was the advantage of the North Koreans, while our advantages were air supremacy and vastly heavier artillery fire power.

On the night of August 6, our troops moved up for the jump off—convoy after interminable convoy of transport and tanks and guns crawling over narrow mountain roads, past deep precipices, in pitch darkness. In the jolting trucks, the mood was at once tense and exhausted, for almost all the men were too young to have experienced combat and—such was the haste of preparation—very few had experienced much sleep in the past few days.

In the hot, pearly dawn of August 7, at 6:30 a. m., the jump off took place. The battle plan was simple. Two main, parallel roads traverse the coastal area that was our objective. The upper road was assigned to the 35th Regimental Combat Team (which is a self-contained force of three infantry battalions with its own tanks and artillery).

Meanwhile, on the more important coastal road, the Fifth Regimental Combat Team was to lead the attack as far as a road junction where another track forked off through the sea cliffs. Here the 1st Marine Brigade was to come through, and the Marines and 5th and 35th Regimental Combat Teams were then to go forward abreast, with the Negro troops of the 24th Regimental Combat Team guarding the rear.

On the upper road, all went well. The 35th R.C.T. took the key heights early. The main enemy force in this sector was located in a little village and brought under heavy fire. By late afternoon Col. Henry G. Fisher was calling for bulldozers to cover the North Korean dead. But on the crucial coastal road it was very different.

Here, in the pre-dawn darkness, our troops had failed to occupy the crest of a sugar loaf mountain commanding the route of advance. The spearhead outfit, the 5th R.C.T. was both very green and uncertainly led. And the sun had hardly broken over the rice paddies and mountains when both Marines and Infantry were attacked by the enemy. Perhaps because the action was so relatively small, the scene was very vivid.

Pattern Emerging

Steep mountains rose sharply from a broad valley cut by a small, clear, rocky stream. On one mountainside puffs of smoke indicated artillery hits on the Marine command post, and the Marine guns barked back. In a command post sheltered by the other mountainside, officers and men of the 5th R.C.T. milled about dubiously until they too were brought under mortar fire. Communications broke down repeatedly, but at intervals the telephone brought news of one company cut off, another halted, another threatend by infiltration on its flank. Under the blazing sun, a long file of Marines walked out

Mistaken Policies Prior To Korea Are Continuing

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—This is the story of what just a few "if's" could have meant to the fathers and mothers of those boys who are fighting against great odds in Korea and to the fathers and mothers of those boys soon to fight—they all should know more about why the battles have been going against us.

1. If, in addition to the three big aircraft carriers in the Pacific, six more were in operation off the coast of Korea—and we have available 17 large-sized and 60 smaller-sized carriers still in "mothballs" — there would conceivably be no loss of the port of Pohang today and no loss of the valuable air strip behind it thus leaving us only one airfield behind our lines in South Korea.

2. If, along with the light cruisers and destroyers, there was in Korean waters a division of four battleships —we have several in "mothballs"— there would not be a railroad operating within 12 miles inland on either coast and no substantial amount of supplies would be able to move down from North Korea, Russia or communist China. The big 16-inch shells of the battleships, firing from short distances offshore with unerring aim in all kinds of weather, can do more damage by steady bombardment than can be done by similar projectiles dropped indiscriminately from high altitudes by the large bombers at infrequent intervals. If the battleship Missouri had only been stationed in the Far East, the news would be different today.

Not Enough Planes

3. If there were nine big aircraft carriers off the Korean coast with a total of approximately 900 planes aboard, there could be 24-hour bombing and strafing and air artillery support given to our ground troop movements. As it is, the enemy moves men and supplies at night and we do not have enough planes there with those flares giving a huge candlepower of illumination to carry on strafing and bombing around the clock.

4. If enough of the big aircraft carriers of the Navy were in Korean waters, the ground troops would not have to worry about protecting the only two air strips they have had behind their lines. For planes dependent on ground bases alone must remain there for servicing part of the time and this leaves them open to attack by enemy artillery or planes. The aircraft carrier, on the other hand, moves its floating base off shore at will and is ready 24 hours a day to attack or defend itself because it gets a vast amount of anti-aircraft protection from the cruisers and destroyers that surround it in what is known as a "carrier task force."

5. If the American people had been properly informed, they would never have consented to the sabotage of U. S. naval aviation carried on during the last three years by the generals in the Pentagon and their civilian secretary supporters who placed all the emphasis on intercontinental bombing over the Atlantic and forgot the 8,000-mile distances in the Pacific and its trouble areas.

Some of the same misconceptions which resulted in mistaken policies before the Korean war are being perpetuated today in the news dispatches and official communiques. The work of all airmen is lumped together and the same stories are widely printed as heretofore about the weight of the total number of bombs dropped—as if this has anything to do with the effectiveness of the fire if targets are missed as they were repeatedly by high-flying bombers in the last war and as official reports and surveys testified.

The recent news dispatches and official releases do not clearly differentiate, for example, between the frequent and numerous sorties flown by U. S. Naval Air Force fliers from the decks of carriers just a few miles offshore and the fewer sorties necessarily flown from distant bases in Japan at less frequent intervals and with less time over the targets by U. S. Air Force fliers. The Air Force isn't getting proper credit for these hazardous missions. In the announcements, the total of the sorties is combined and the public doesn't know what each service is doing—and Congress is not learning what to provide to strengthen our airpower in all its phases.

Designation Needed

There is needed a definite designation for the Navy flyers. They have a right to be given a separate name, such as the U. S. Naval Air Force. The news dispatches and official communiques should enable the reader to identify these three different air operations:

1. Flying from Japanese land bases, the high-flying strategic bombers of the U. S. Air Force when engaged in strategic bombing or medium bombers when engaged so bravely in strafing for which they are not fitted. Such hazardous and extraordinary missions deserve great praise.

2. Air support for ground troops furnished by Marine Corps aviators flying from the decks of naval carriers and the naval flyers also from these carriers.

3. Low-level dive-bombing of a strategic nature done by the aviators of the U. S. Naval Air Force flying from the broad decks of aircraft carriers. These fliers stay over the targets for hours at a time because they do not have to fly back long distances and they fly low enough to see what they are aiming at. They do not, moreover, kill noncombatants unless the latter happen to be right at the targets, and this is something of growing importance if the Korean population isn't to be turned against us because of indiscriminate bombing from high altitudes.

These three differentiations are necessary also to build up the morale and fighting spirit of each of the three services engaged in air operations, to stimulate the reserves in training, and to help recruiting.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Book Reviews

THE "New York Times" and "New York Herald Tribune" have virtually established a monopoly in book reviews through their weekly supplements, which are widely read throughout the country. Publishers generally find it advantageous to advertise in these supplements, thus avoiding the more expensive effort of making their wares known to prospective customers by advertising generally in a large number of newspapers and magazines.

Thus, a conscious effort has been made to establish these book supplements as authoritative, although a book review, to be authoritative, needs to be done by a scholar of equal rank, if not superior, to the author. For instance, Oppenheimer on Einstein might be called authoritative, but Einstein on Pareto would be just one man's opinion, worth what it may be.

Also, if these reviews are to be worthy of attention there should be no log-rolling, no cliques, no claques, no friends boosting friends. That, of course, is a problem of editing.

In my particular field, the Far East, I have found a degeneration of scholarship and a tendency both in the "Times" and the "Herald Tribune" to accept the line of the Institute of Pacific Relations and the Alger Hiss clique of the State Department.

So, when Owen Lattimore's book, "Ordeal by Slander," appeared—a book of self-confessed martrydom—the "Herald Tribune" used as reviewer John K. Fairbank of Harvard. According to Lattimore's book, Fairbank is his personal partisan, leading in the fight to justify Lattimore and to break down Senator Joe McCarthy.

In a word, John K. Fairbank is not an objective scholar in this matter but a supporter of the author; in fact, he played a direct and personal role in the martyrdom. This is what Lattimore has to say on the subject:

"John Fairbank, at Harvard, sent out telegrams to a long list of Far Eastern experts all over the country, suggesting that they write to Senator Tydings, the chairman of the committee."

Yet, the editor of the "Herald Tribune" featured a review of Lattimore's book by this same John Fairbank, putting it on the front page, which is regarded highly in this monopolistic book review business. Fairbank has for several years been a Chiang Kai-Shek opponent, a Chinese Nationalist baiter. He has a right to his opinions and judgments, although they do not stand up today in the face of Soviet Russia's conquest of China and the death of our boys in Korea.

That, however, is not my present theme, which is to inquire how it is possible to trust the reliability of these book reviews when the editors select as reviewers self-professed partisans and associates of the authors. This has happened not once but often.

It could almost be said that in Far Eastern matters, during the past 10 years, it has always happened; the book supplements, in effect, instructing publishers by this indirect process that books favorable to the cause of Nationalist China or opposed to communist China or even inquiring into the bona fides of Russia's conduct in China are likely to be assailed, assaulted and their authors maligned by a clique that has, by doctrinaire concepts, brought this country into another war and close to disaster.

I make no reference to the reviewers themselves nor to Lattimore's book. Time will undoubtedly establish the truth in these matters. The Tydings investigation was nothing of the sort. It made no study; produced no evidence of value; and suppressed important data. Someday, an investigation will be made of the foreign policy of the United States since 1934 when the Harold Ware communist cell was organized in Washington. Maybe, it will be done by a congressional committee or by some objective scholar like the late Charles A. Beard. Then we shall get at the truth.

As it is now, there are half-facts, half-truths, leads, assumptions and doubts in all directions. I possess a vast amount of data, all of which I believe to be true and none of which I can, at this juncture, prove. Others are in the same position. Links that could provide the truth are missing. Documents essential to proof are unavailable.

But in time, it will all appear and we shall know why we lost World War II and why we find ourselves fighting in World War III.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 14 (INS)—Bob Hope won't get much time to traipse around between finishing "The Lemon Drop Kid" and starting a brand-new one at Paramount.

Bob Hope

"Passage to Cairo," just off the typewriters of Edmund Beloin and Lou Breslow, is so funny Mr. Hope will be put to work again no later than October 1.

This hardly gives him time to make jaunts to the North Pole, the 38th parallel or other spots he might have in mind.

The "Cairo" comedy is about a school teacher (Bob) who bears an embarrassing resemblance to an international gangster. He's sent to Cairo to pose as the racketeer and help break up the illicit goings-on.

Ever since Lucille Ball, Desi Arnaz and Ed Sedgwick announced they'll make an independent, "Blazing Beulah From Butte"—the Butte Chamber of Commerce has been after them to film the entire picture in Montana. They'll even throw in a studio converted for the interior scenes.

What the C of C does not know is that the story is about a girl who hates Butte and spends her life trying to get away without success!

You can't get Red Skelton to admit that he feels anything but tops. He tells his friends that his rest at Scripp's Clinic, in La Jolla, fixed him up fine.

But M-G-M is not rushing the next Skelton picture, "Excuse My Dust." The writers have been given six more weeks to finish the script.

By that time, Vera-Ellen will be back from Europe to start the comedy about the first automobiles, with Red. One reason for giving Skelton so much time before starting his new one is that he'll have several strenuous dance routines with Vera.

Vic Damone and Piper Laurie have discovered each other in Chicago, where the flower-eating UI starlet is appearing with "Louisa" and Vic is singing at the Chez Paree.

They've been out every night since she's been there.

Piper abandoned both Vic and the posies long enough to call her studio that she'll be back next week to start her new picture. When Damone, singing delight of the high school set, completes his engagement, he will also be back here to start his M-G-M- picture and to pick up with pretty Piper.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Dixie Crosby, sunburned, and looking like a million, made one of her rare night club appearances with a party of friends at Charley Foy's.

With everybody else watching the nags at the Del Mar track, George Raft couldn't take his eyes off Blonde Norma Everhardt, his new romance. She's 21 and looks 15.

The weekend was jumping with parties—three on Saturday night. Nancy Sinatra gave a fun square dance. Mrs. Peter Rathvon entertained in honor of her new star, Yma Sumac, and the Louis B. Mayers hosted a formal dinner dance. Dinah Shore and George Montgomery were the best square dancers at the hoe down. The most charming guest was seven-year-old Nancy Sinatra who was so cute and dignified helping her lovely mother receive.

Gracie Allen and the Danny Kayes were among the commuters between the Sinatra and Mayer parties.

Hardly recognized Vivien Leigh when I first glimpsed her talking with Ethel Barrymore at the Mayers. Vivien, in an Egyptian style gown, with her dark hair straight, looked like a modern Cleopatra.

I ran out of steam before the Rathvon party which, I'm told, was delightful with everyone interested in meeting the exotic Sumac, who makes her screen debut for Mrs. Rathvon.

Joan Blondell left Hollywood Sunday with the two children for New York where she will make a point of not seeing Mike Todd.

Philip Dorn returned from his Canadian vacation in time to join Dana Andrews and Claude Rains in "The Gaunt Woman" (a ship not a gal) at RKO. It's his first on the lot since "I Remember Mama" for Harriet Parsons.

Joan Bering, wife of the Chicago hotel biggie, has had the foot rests she manufactures as a sideline accepted by Washington for use in veterans hospitals.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Bob Hope was a guest recently of the White House correspondents in Washington. "I read President Truman's new tax proposals in Palm Springs last week," he told delighted newsmen, "but I decided I could afford to fly on anyhow. Mind you, it isn't that I object to high taxes. But I do think the government's spending my money faster than I can make it."

By BOB CONSIDINE

TOKYO (INS)—Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, an old hand at fighting in the Asiatic air, picked up a strong magnifying glass from his desk and intently studied the "strike" picture that had been rushed to him from Maj. Gen. "Rosey" O'Donnell's B-29 base.

Then he muttered, "Great," got up from his desk and walked over to a wide map to perform the most satisfying ritual known to strategic bombing commanders.

He reached for a black crayon and made an "X" over the important North Korean town of Pyongyang.

"Take a look," Stratemeyer invited, returning to the desk and handing me the aerial photograph and the enlarger glass. The picture had been taken at about 15,000 feet. The magnifying glass dropped it dizzily to what amounted to rooftop level.

What had been one of the most important North Korean marshalling yards for troops and heavy material funneling down from Mukden and Vladivostok, in support of the troops to the south, was black and flat. A huge arsenal had been leveled to tossed bricks and dust.

• — • — •

Countless tracks for hundreds of yards around had been swept away as if they were cobwebs. A long freight train bulging with supplies had been standing on one line of those tracks when the lead bombardier of the flight of 50 B-29s had given the signal to unload the 500-pound bombs. The trains and their locomotive had completely disappeared.

"Rosey really dropped that one perfectly," Stratemeyer said of his friend, the brilliant Brooklyn-born former grid star and backfield coach at West Point. "Never even touched the town of Pyongyang—just the things that hurt those fellows the most."

It was Stratemeyer's second such trip to his map for the purpose of marking an "X." He had crossed out Hungnam earlier. Its big munitions and chemical factories had gone up with such a hellish blast that B-29s flying 15,000 feet over an undercast (they hit the mark by radar) were tossed around like corks in a mill race.

There will be other marshalling yards blown to bits, more bridges knocked down, more road intersections ripped by the 50-odd iron birds now operating out of Japan.

Unmolested by enemy fighters for more than three weeks, the big bombers have set all time records for precision bombing in good weather and bad. Surely and swiftly they are throttling the industrial neck of Korea. Life slowly ebbs out of the arms and legs of the enemy's extended lines to the south.

When the job in the north is complete, as it soon will be, the big bombers will roam southward in force over what had been free Korea. And yards and dumps, bridges and concentrations acquired or set up there by the reds will feel the deluge of tons of bombs.

To Stratemeyer this will be something like bombing Philadelphia to save New York, or vice versa. "We don't want to do it but it will help us in the long run," Stratemeyer told me. "The comparatively light bombing we have already done below the 38th parallel has been done only at the request of South Korean officials who are more than willing to sacrifice property and facilities appropriated by the enemy."

The Far East Air Forces decision to invade the air beyond the 38th parallel and carry the war to the enemy's back yard was made on the spot and received Washington backing in a hurry.

No phase of the Korean war is under greater scrutiny by military leaders throughout the world.

The big United States bombers have ranged to within easy reach of borders behind which unquestionably sit Russian fighters and jets, and destroyed targets which were in all probability producing material for Russia not Korea. But the bear has not lifted his head and this has caused many observers in Tokyo to believe that Korea is not the trigger of World War three.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 14 (INS)—Bob Hope won't get much time to traipse around between finishing "The Lemon Drop Kid" and starting a brand-new one at Paramount.

Bob Hope

"Passage to Cairo," just off the typewriters of Edmund Beloin and Lou Breslow, is so funny M. Hope will be put to work again no later than October 1.

This hardly gives him time to make jaunts to the North Pole, the 38th parallel or other spots he might have in mind.

The "Cairo" comedy is about a school teacher (Bob) who bears an embarrassing resemblance to an international gangster. He's sent to Cairo to pose as the racketeer and help break up the illicit goings-on.

• — • — •

Ever since Lucille Ball, Desi Arnaz and Ed Sedgwick announced they'll make an independent, "Blazing Beulah From Butte"—the Butte Chamber of Commerce has been after them to film the entire picture in Montana. They'll even throw in a studio converted for the interior scenes.

What the C of C does not know is that the story is about a girl who hates Butte and spends her life trying to get away without success!

• — • — •

You can't get Red Skelton to admit that he feels anything but tops. He tells his friends that his rest at Scripp's Clinic, in La Jolla, fixed him up fine.

But M-G-M is not rushing the next Skelton picture, "Excuse My Dust." The writers have been given six more weeks to finish the script.

By that time, Vera-Ellen will be back from Europe to start the comedy about the first automobiles, with Red. One reason for giving Skelton so much time before starting his new one is that he'll have several strenuous dance routines with Vera.

• — • — •

Vic Damone and Piper Laurie have discovered each other in Chicago, where the flower-eating UI starlet is appearing with "Louisa" and Vic is singing at the Chez Paree.

They've been out every night since she's been there.

Piper abandoned both Vic and the posies long enough to call her studio that she'll be back next week to start her new picture. When Damone, singing delight of the high school set, completes his engagement, he will also be back here to start his M-G-M- picture and to pick up with pretty Piper.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Dixie Crosby, sunburned, and looking like a million, made one of her rare night club appearances with a party of friends at Charley Foy's.

With everybody else watching the nags at the Del Mar track, George Raft couldn't take his eyes off Blonde Norma Everhardt, his new romance. She's 21 and looks 15.

The weekend was jumping with parties—three on Saturday night. Nancy Sinatra gave a fun square dance. Mrs. Peter Rathvon entertained in honor of her new star, Yma Sumac, and the Louis B. Mayers hosted a formal dinner dance. Dinah Shore and George Montgomery were the best square dancers at the hoe down. The most charming guest was seven-year-old Nancy Sinatra who was so cute and dignified helping her lovely mother receive.

Gracie Allen and the Danny Kayes were among the commuters between the Sinatra and Mayer parties.

Hardly recognized Vivien Leigh when I first glimpsed her talking with Ethel Barrymore at the Mayers. Vivien, in an Egyptian style gown, with her dark hair straight, looked like a modern Cleopatra.

I ran out of steam before the Rathvon party which, I'm told, was delightful with everyone interested in meeting the exotic Sumac, who makes her screen debut for Mrs. Rathvon.

Joan Blondell left Hollywood Sunday with the two children for New York where she will make a point of not seeing Mike Todd.

Philip Dorn returned from his Canadian vacation in time to join Dana Andrews and Claude Rains in "The Gaunt Woman" (a ship not a gal) at RKO. It's his first on the lot since "I Remember Mama" for Harriet Parsons.

Joan Bering, wife of the Chicago hotel biggie, has had the foot rests she manufactures as a sideline accepted by Washington for use in veterans hospitals.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

TOKYO (INS)—Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, an old hand at fighting in the Asiatic air, picked up a strong magnifying glass from his desk and intently studied the "strike" picture that had been rushed to him from Maj. Gen. "Rosey" O'Donnell's B-29 base.

Then he muttered, "Great," got up from his desk and walked over to a wide map to perform the most satisfying ritual known to strategic bombing commanders.

He reached for a black crayon and made an "X" over the important North Korean town of Pyongyang.

"Take a look," Stratemeyer, invited, returning to the desk and handing me the aerial photograph and the enlarger glass. The picture had been taken at about 15,000 feet. The magnifying glass dropped it dizzily to what amounted to rooftop level.

What had been one of the most important North Korean marshalling yards for troops and heavy material funneling down from Mukden and Vladivostok, in support of the troops to the south, was black and flat. A huge arsenal had been leveled to tossed bricks and dust.

• — • — •

Countless tracks for hundreds of yards around had been swept away as if they were cobwebs. A long freight train bulging with supplies had been standing on one line of those tracks when the lead bombardier of the flight of 50 B-29s had given the signal to unload the 500-pound bombs. The trains and their locomotive had completely disappeared.

"Rosey really dropped that one perfectly," Stratemeyer said of his friend, the brilliant Brooklyn-born former grid star and backfield coach at West Point. "Never even touched the town of Pyongyang—just the things that hurt those fellows the most."

It was Stratemeyer's second such trip to his map for the purpose of marking an "X." He had crossed out Hungnam earlier. Its big munitions and chemical factories had gone up with such a hellish blast that B-29s flying 15,000 feet over an undercast (they hit the mark by radar) were tossed around like corks in a mill race.

There will be other marshalling yards blown to bits, more bridges knocked down, more road intersections ripped by the 50-odd iron birds now operating out of Japan.

Unmolested by enemy fighters for more than three weeks, the big bombers have set all time records for precision bombing in good weather and bad. Surely and swiftly they are throttling the industrial neck of Korea. Life slowly ebbs out of the arms and legs of the enemy's extended lines to the south.

When the job in the north is complete, as it soon will be, the big bombers will roam southward in force over what had been free Korea. And yards and dumps, bridges and concentrations acquired or set up there by the reds will feel the deluge of tons of bombs.

To Stratemeyer this will be something like bombing Philadelphia to save New York, or vice versa. "We don't want to do it but it will help us in the long run," Stratemeyer told me. "The comparatively light bombing we have already done below the 38th parallel has been done only at the request of South Korean officials who are more than willing to sacrifice property and facilities appropriated by the enemy."

The Far East Air Forces decision to invade the air beyond the 38th parallel and carry the war to the enemy's back yard was made on the spot and received Washington backing in a hurry.

No phase of the Korean war is under greater scrutiny by military leaders throughout the world.

The big United States bombers have ranged to within easy reach of borders behind which unquestionably sit Russian fighters and jets, and destroyed targets which were in all probability producing material for Russia not Korea. But the bear has not lifted his head and this has caused many observers in Tokyo to believe that Korea is not the trigger of World War three.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Bob Hope was a guest recently of the White House correspondents in Washington. "I read President Truman's new tax proposals in Palm Springs last week," he told delighted newsmen, "but I decided I could afford to fly on anyhow. Mind you, it isn't that I object to high taxes. But I do think the government's spending my money faster than I can make it."

A customer of Reuben's delicatessen cornered the boss and whispered, "Mr. Reuben, can you keep a secret?" "You bet I can," said Reuben. "I have to get somebody to lend me five hundred dollars," confided the customer. Reuben whispered back, "I couldn't even hear you say it."

A stranger tapped a young man on the arm and asked, "What's the name of this beautiful university?" "Sorry, mister," said the young man, "I'm just a football player here."

Toni Dayton Is Married In Piedmont Church Ceremony

Becomes Bride Of William Coffman

Miss Toni Dayton, daughter of Mrs. Frank M. Dayton and the late Mr. Dayton, Westernport, became the bride of William E. Coffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Coffman, Davis, W. Va., Saturday at Trinity Methodist Church, Piedmont, W. Va.

Rev. O. C. Mitchell, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with ferns, palms, and baskets of white gladioli and candelabra with white candles

Before the ceremony Mrs. George Ord, organist of Westernport and Mr. Wilton Syckes, violinist of Cumberland presented a musical program including "Traumera," Schumann; "Romance," Rubenstein; "Angels Serenade," "Meditation from Thais" by Massenet; "Romance," Wieniawski; Schuberts "Ave Marie" and "Yours Is My Heart Alone." Mrs. Ord also played the wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her cousin Robert Dawson, Lonaconing, wore a gown of white satin with a nylon net yoke, making an off shoulder neckline which was outlined with chantilly lace. The long sleeves came to a point at the wrist and the skirt ended in a short train. Her gown was designed and made by Mrs. Harry Ravenscroft.

Her lingertip veil of silk French illusion fell from a satin halo. She carried a white satin fan adorned with seven white orchids. Her only jewelry was her maternal grandmother's wedding band which is over 70 years old. Mrs. Chester W. Hobbs was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a yellow organdy gown over white taffeta with halo hat and gloves to match, and carried a cascade corsage of yellow daisies and white baby mums.

Miss Ellen Newnam, Cumberland, and Mrs. George Gardner, Lonaconing, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of white organdy over yellow taffeta, with halo hats and gloves to match and their cascade corsages were of white mums and yellow daisies and satin ribbon.

Mrs. Dayton, mother of the bride, chose a toast crepe dress with which she wore fall brown accessories. A yellow rose bud corsage completed her costume. Mrs. Coffman wore a grey crepe dress. She wore black accessories, and her corsage was also of yellow rose buds.

The bride is a graduate of Bruce High School, Potomac State School, and received a B. S. degree in music education at West Virginia University in Morgantown June 6.

The long sleeves came to a point at the wrist and the skirt ended in a short train. Her gown was designed and made by Mrs. Harry Ravenscroft.

Her lingertip veil of silk French illusion fell from a satin halo. She carried a white satin fan adorned with seven white orchids. Her only jewelry was her maternal grandmother's wedding band which is over 70 years old. Mrs. Chester W. Hobbs was her sister's matron of honor. Charles H. Coffman, Jr., Baltimore was best man for his brother, and Robert Coffman, Davis, W. Va., also a brother of the groom, and Lonnie F. Dayton, Keyser, the bride's cousin, were ushers.

Mrs. Dayton, mother of the bride, chose a toast crepe dress with which she wore fall brown accessories. A yellow rose bud corsage completed her costume. Mrs. Coffman wore a grey crepe dress. She wore black accessories, and her corsage was also of yellow rose buds.

The bride is a graduate of Bruce High School, Potomac State School, and received a B. S. degree in music education at West Virginia University in Morgantown June 6.

Donald Bishop Killed In Korea Battle Zone

Pfc. Donald Bishop, 19, brother of Mrs. Catherine F. Williams, 114 Blaul Avenue, and Marion Bishop, South Street, Cumberland, has been killed in action in Korea.

Before reaching Mrs. Williams, the telegram had been sent to Hancock, where the boy was formerly a resident, addressed to his father, George P. Bishop, who was killed in a highway accident over a year ago. Bishop's mother, Mrs. Nancy R. Bishop is also deceased.

The soldier had been stationed in Tokyo since February, 1949 and was attached to a unit of the First Cavalry Division.

Other survivors of the soldier are four brothers, James Bishop, of Hancock; Cpl. Kenneth Bishop, stationed with the Army in Virginia; Fireman First Class Ray Bishop, with the Navy and Paul Bishop, of Hyndman, Pa., and one other sister, Mrs. John Ritchey, of Hyndman, Pa.

Two Garrett county soldiers are also on the casualty list of the Korean war.

They are Cpl. Richard W. Cline, son of Mrs. Mary B. Cline, of Kitzmiller, who was wounded in action and Cpl. Kenneth J. Knotts, son of Mrs. Mabel M. Knotts, of Crellin, also wounded in action.

Matter Of Fact

along the dykes of the rice paddies to help deal with these threats. But what had been planned as an offensive had been turned, temporarily, into a defense.

To the inexperienced observer, the first two days of the battle seemed to be wholly composed of such isolated scenes and incidents—an infantry company clambering up a naked mountainside, while smoke from our shellfire plumed upward from the lodgement on the crest—a huge tank turned a little aside to let pass a medic's jeep load of wounded—a worried knot of truck drivers consulting while sniper fire snicked the bushes by the roadside—the long ribbon of road around a mountain solidly covered with transport held there by the mortar and automatic weapons of an enemy road block—and all day and each day, the Marine Corsairs and Jets and F51s first dropping their rockets and then swooping back to strafe and strafe again.

Behind all this, a pattern gradually emerged. The North Koreans were using up their strength. Our men, at first gravely roadbound, were learning the ways of this mountain war. By the evening of August 8, we had still gained little ground but it was time for the battle to enter its second phase.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

NOW that the fall fashion showings have turned the early predictions of slim lines into an actuality, it's time to match your figure to the fashions if you want to cut a swath on your local Park Avenue.

One woman wrote me that her summer's gains were so costly to her figure that she couldn't find a suit to fit her. She bought one anyway and now has it in her closet waiting for her to reduce. Perhaps she needed that kind of expensive inspiration, but it's a drastic action which I'm sure you can avoid. There's just about time enough between now and the fall-outfitting deadline for you to take a figure you like into the marts of fashion when you make your selection.

Hip Trimming

Spot reducing exercises are just what it takes to trim the hips to fall-fashion size. They are the one and only solution because in this muscular area, fatty deposits are deeply imbedded and unaffected by everyday activity. You can diet until you are a shadow, and still find your hips unattractively out of proportion.

The term "hip measurement" can be as broad in meaning as in appearance. Usually it refers to the circumference of the lower hip, taken in line with the hip joints. But equally important is the high measurement taken around your hip bones, where over-eating and lack of exercise leave a rattling bulge.

For the upper, high-hip bulge, try this: Line on your left side with your entire body in a straight line and your head resting on your left arm. Place your right hand on the floor in front of your chest and roll your body backward slightly until your weight is cushioned on the upper hip bulge.

Now, (this is hard but worth the effort) bend both knees up sharply until they almost touch your chest. Then, straighten your legs out forward so they are at right angles to your body. Come back to starting position by swinging your legs downward in a wide, full arc. Ten times per side for a few days; then increase at your own speed until you can reach forty without getting out of breath. Caution: Keep your weight at all times on that upper hip pad!

Rocking Exercise

For the lower hip spread, sit Indian-fashion (ankles crossed, knees bent and wide apart) on the floor. Place one hand on either knee. Using your hands for added force, start rocking slightly from side to side. Increase the degree of the rock until you go over onto your thigh on each side. When your balance is well established, make the rocking motion circular in direction so that you massage the entire area. Twenty to start and increase to fifty.

The most important factor in any season's fashion design is the way you design your figure!

OPERA STAR MAKES OWN TEST

MARGUERITE PIAZZA, dark-eyed beauty of the opera, joins many of her admirers in echoing the praises of Camel mildness. Says Miss Piazza, "Of all the tests, the Camel 30-Day Mildness Test convinced me! Camels agree with my throat and they taste grand."

Smokers Prove Camel Mildness for Themselves—Make 30-Day Test in Their Own "T-Zones"!
(T for Throat, T for Taste)

EVERY DAY, more and more smokers are discovering for themselves just how mild a cigarette can be! They're making their own Camel 30-Day Mildness Tests — smoking Camels regularly for 30 days.

This is the sensible test. It does not rely on tricks or short cuts. No snap judgments based on one puff or one sniff. Instead, you, the smoker, test Camels on a regular, pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. You judge Camel mildness and the flavor of Camel's choice tobaccos in your own "T-Zone" — the best possible proving ground for a cigarette. See if the Camel 30-Day Test doesn't give you the most enjoyment you've ever had from smoking.

Redbird Hurler Gets the Pitch

HOWARD POLLET, veteran southpaw pitching star of the St. Louis Cardinals, had this to say about Camel mildness: "The throat specialists' findings in the 30-Day Test don't surprise me. I've smoked Camels for many years. I know they're mild. Camels don't tire my taste and they're just right for my throat!"

"I DIDN'T KNOW how mild a cigarette could be until I changed to Camels!" Jeanne Wilson, swimmer.

"CHALK ME UP as another Camel fan. Camel's rich, full flavor always hits the spot!" Jack Trahan, commercial diver.

"I HAVE KNOWN about Camel mildness all along. Camels stand the test of steady smoking!" Eileen Seigh, ice skater.

"NOW I KNOW how mild a cigarette can be! My 30-Day Test won me to Camels!" Lawyer Harry Southwell, Junior.

Charles Favored Over Beshore, Cleveland Defeats Detroit

NBA Champion Is 5-1 Choice In Buffalo Go

No Radio, Television For 15-Round Indoor Title Match Tonight

By JACK HAND

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 14. (AP)—Ezzard Charles shoots for the Joe Louis jackpot tomorrow night when he risks his NBA heavyweight crown against underdog Freddie Beshore at Memorial Auditorium.

Ezzard Charles

If Charles Shows enough "tiger" and flattens the 5 to 1 challenger inside the 15-round limit, he wins a $500,000 September date with Louis. An upset by Beshore would scramble the situation.

With no radio and television, Promoter Dewey Michaels counts on a last-minute sale to bring a crowd of 10,000 and a gate of $60,000. It may be less.

Ring time for the twice-postponed indoor battle is 9:00 p. m. (EST) with the weigh-in schedued for noon (EST). Chairman Eddie Egan of the New York State Athletic Commission and top brass of the International Boxing Club will be among the most interested spectators.

To Make Final Decision

Both Eagan and IBC officials want to see for themselves how Charles will react in his fight after a long layoff due to a "bruised heart muscle." A final decision on the Louis-Charles bout, tentatively set for Yankee Stadium Sept. 27, depends on it.

Beshore, a blond Pennsylvania Dutchman from Harrismurg, Pa. has trained long and hard for his one "shot at the moon." Injuries to Charles postponed his chance twice, after some 700 rounds of training he's as ready as he'll ever be.

Charles whipped Jersey Joe Walcott in June, 1949, to win NBA recognition for the title vacated by Louis. The New York Commission never went along with the National Boxing Association on that. But if Charles whips Beshore, Eagan indicates he'll recognize a Louis-Charles winner as champ.

Won 66 Out Of 72

On the records there is no comparison of the two fighters. Charles won 66, lost five and drew once in 72 pro fights. Since he won the title he defended twice with knockout wins over Gus Lesnevich and Pat Valentino. At 29, he is near his peak.

Beshore, 26-year-old navy vet, lost his last two fights to Lee Oma at Buffalo. The last one was a split decision Jan. 4. In 33 fights, he has won 26, lost six and fought a draw. But, while Charles reversed most of his defeats to highly-rated opponents, Beshore's loss column includes the likes of Bill McLure and Francisco Dela Cruz.

Charles gets 40 per cent of the receipts and Beshore 17½ per cent.

U.S. Davis Cup Team Is Named

Brown Makes Squad, Patty Is Injured

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (INS)—A four-man team, headed by Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Cal., was selected today to represent the United States in its challenge round defense of the Davis Cup against Australia.

Three of the four men picked to meet the Australians at Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 25-27, were members of last year's team.

They are Schroeder, Billy Talbert of New York and Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla.

Selection of Tom Brown, Jr., of San Francisco, to fill the fourth berth, came as somewhat of a surprise.

Lt. Col. James Bishop, head of the United States Lawn Tennis Association's Davis Cup Selection Committee, said that Wimbledon champion Budge Patty of Los Angeles was bypassed because he suffered an ankle injury yesterday in the doubles play at Newport, R. I.

GOLFER AND SON CLAIM CUP—After Henry Ransom of Dallas, Texas, and Chicago won a playoff for the Tam O'Shanter "world" golf championship yesterday at Chicago, he placed his son Henry, Jr., in the huge trophy. Ransom plants a kiss on the cheek of the 20-month-old yougster and holds the check for $11,000. Ransom beat Chick Harbert of Detroit, 69-72, in the 18-hole playoff for golf's biggest money prize.

Henry Ransom Wins $11,000, Golf's Biggest Cash Prize

Beats Chick Harbert, 69-72, In Playoff At Tam O' Shanter

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (AP) — Henry Ransom of Dallas went six strokes under par on a sensational five-hole streak to blast Detroit's Chick Harbert 69-72 in an 18 hole playoff today and win $11,000 as Tam O'Shanter's "world" golf champion.

The first major triumph for the 39-year-old Texan netted him the biggest cash prize the sport has ever offered. It boosted him from 10th place on the pro's money winning list to second with a total of $18,885.

Sam Snead is still well ahead in the money chase with $29,048. Jim Ferrier, the erstwhile runner-up, now is officially third with $18,771.

Harbert's second award today was $5,000, upping his earnings to $8,398.

Ransom, whose only prime victories in 13 years on the circuit were in 1946 at St. Paul and last year at Wilmington, made each playoff shot against the hard-hitting Harbert count for about $87.

One stroke behind at the 8th hole, the calculating winner, who registers from nearby St. Andrews Golf Club, uncorked one of the most blistering sub-par sprees in the books.

He knocked his four-wood second shot from the rough on No. 9 a dozen feet from the pin and was down for eagle 3.

Ransom then birdied the next four holes. He missed a 10 foot putt on No. 10 which would have given him a consecutive eagle. He settled for a 4. He birdied 11 and 12 and 15 foot putts, and added another birdied to the string on No. 13 by holing a 70 foot pitch shot.

Earlier, Ransom had dropped a 60 foot chip shot on the fourth for another birdie.

For 10 successive holes, Ransom never had a par. Beginning at No. 7 and ending with No. 16, he was one-over-par four times and under par six.

Ward's Single In 9th Defeats St. Louis Cards

Drives In Two Runs To Win For Cubs, 7-6

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs were within one strike of defeat today, but with two strikes on him and the tying and winning runs on base, Preston Ward singled to give the Cubs a 7 to 6 victory over the Cardinals.

After tying the score twice, the Cardinals seemingly had won the game in the eighth with two runs on Marty Marion's walk, singles by Rocky Nelson and Del Rice and a bad throw by Bob Borkowski.

But the Cards had reckoned without Andy Pafko and Ward. The former put the Cubs back in contention in the last of the eighth with his 27th homer of the season.

Then in the ninth, the Cubs disposed of Harry (The Cat) Brecheen when Mickey Owen and Hal Jeffcoat led off with singles. Carmen Mauro batted for Twig Terwilliger and struck out. Borkowski suffered a similar fate, but Jeffcoat stole second on the third strike.

Then there were two strikes on Ward when he won the game with his timely single which scored two runs: Box:

Dauthuille Gets Shot At LaMotta

Title Match Is Set In Detroit Sept. 13

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—Jake LaMotta agreed today to defend his middleweight title against Laurent Dauthuille of France, the No. 2 challenger, in Detroit's Olympia Stadium Sept. 13.

Jake LaMotta

The two fighters signed at the offices of the International Boxing Club here. Detroit Promoter Nick Londes, IBC representative, said he expects a 12,000 gate for the indoor battle.

The Frenchman, rated behind welterweight champion Ray Robinson, as logical contender for the middleweight title, whipped LaMotta in a 10-round bout at Montreal in February, 1949.

LaMotta won the crown by stopping another Frenchman, the late Marcel Cerdan, in Detroit in June, 1949. Jake defeated Tiberio Mitri of Italy in his first title defense last month.

Harry Markson, IBC managing director, said the Dauthuille bout was decided upon because Robinson refused to sign for 15 per cent of the gate.

"Robinson has only himself to blame," Markson added. "It would have been very unprofitable to give him 20 per cent and LaMotta 45 per cent.

The National Boxing Association has threatened to strip LaMotta of his crown if he fails to give Robinson first crack.

NBA president Abe Greene was not immediately available for comment on the LaMotta-Dauthuille match-making.

Durocher Urged To Curb Antics Of Eddie Stanky

Protest Of Giants Ruled Out By Frick

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP) — Ford Frick ruled out today the protest of the New York Giants over Saturday's wild game with the Philadelphia Phillies, and told Leo Durocher to curb the antics of Eddie Stanky.

Manager Durocher played the game under protest after second baseman Stanky was thrown out for jumping up and down and waving his arms to district Andy Seminick, who was at bat. The Phillies won 5-4 in 11 innings.

The "Stanky maneuver" may result in a new rule being written for baseball said Charlie Segar of the National League Service Bureau in explaining the action of Frick, the league president. No rule now covers it, but it won't be allowed anymore anyway.

The maneuver is only possible when the infield defense shifts for a right-hand hitter, placing the second baseman almost directly back of the bag and thus in the axis of the plate and mound.

It was evolved last Tuesday at Boston when Bob Elliott motioned Umpire Al Barlick in back of second, to get out of his line of vision. Stanky took over the spot and jumped up and down, waving his hands.

Stanky employed the same tactics in the important four-game series between the league leading Phillies and the up and coming Giants. The umpires asked Durocher to restrain him until Frick could rule on the case. The truce was called off by Durocher when Seminick slid into the giant third baseman, Hank Thompson, knocking him unconscious.

"Everything is off — do everything you want out there," roared Leo, and Stanky went to work the next time Seminick came up. He was promptly thrown out of the game. Then when Seminick slid into Bill Rigney, substituting for Stanky at second, a free-for-all developed at second.

Frick consulted with Horace Stoneham, Giant president, Durocher, and Stanky. Everyone smiled happily after the meeting.

Pinch Hitter Mitchell Wins Game In Tenth

Rosen's 31st Homer In Ninth Ties Scores, Wynn Is 3-2 Victor

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14 (AP)—Dale Mitchell grounded to Neil Berry in the bottom of the 10th tonight sending in Roberto Avila with the winning run as Cleveland beat Detroit, 3-2.

Berry fielded the pinch hitter's ball at short but the throw to the plate was too late to catch Avila, who was runing in place of Allie Clark.

Clark started the extra inning by doubling. He and Jim Hegan, who had walked, advanced a base each on pitcher Early Wynn's sacrifice. After Ray Boone was walked purposely, Mitchell went to bat for right fielder Bob Kennedy.

Al Rosen forced the game into extra innings by belting his 31st home run of the season in the ninth after two were out.

Detroit had come from behind in the ninth to score twice when Johnny Groth hit his eighth home run of the season with Hoot Evers on base.

The win, which opened a two-game series, put the Indians back into second place, two and a half games behind the leading Tigers and one game ahead of third-place New York.

Early Wynn, the winning pitcher, gave up seven hits while the Indians collected eight off loser Hal Newhouser. It was Wynn's 13th win against five losses and Newhouser's seventh loss against 10 wins. Box:

Interstate Plans Second All-Star Game Saturday

The Interstate Baseball League met last night at the Loyal Order of Moose Home and decided to stage another North-South All-Star game on Saturday, August 19, at 3 p. m., EST., at Moorefield.

This game will replace the postponed game between the Bi-State and Interstate All-Stars which was originally set for Keyser.

The Interstate announced that it is angling for a best-of-three series with the Bi-State League at the conclusion of their regular seasons.

It was announced that a player to qualify for the batting title must be 90 or more times at bat while a pitcher must have at least eight decisions to be eligible for top honors.

The next meeting of the league is set for September 6 at 8 p. m. at the Moose Home.

Centerville and Romney will play off a postponed game at Romney tomorrow (April 16) at 4:30 p. m., EST.

Charles Favored Over Beshore, Cleveland Defeats Detroit

NBA Champion Is 5-1 Choice In Buffalo Go

No Radio, Television For 15-Round Indoor Title Match Tonight

By JACK HAND

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 14. (AP)—Ezzard Charles shoots for the Joe Louis jackpot tomorrow night when he risks his NBA heavyweight crown against underdog Freddie Beshore at Memorial Auditorium.

Ezzard Charles

If Charles Shows enough "tiger" and flattens the 5 to 1 challenger inside the 15-round limit, he wins a $500,000 September date with Louis. An upset by Beshore would scramble the situation.

With no radio and television, Promoter Dewey Michaels counts on a last-minute sale to bring a crowd of 10,000 and a gate of $60,000. It may be less.

Ring time for the twice-postponed indoor battle is 9:00 p. m. (EST) with the weigh-in scheduled for noon (EST). Chairman Eddie Egan of the New York State Athletic Commission and top brass of the International Boxing Club will be among the most interested spectators.

To Make Final Decision

Both Eagan and IBC officials want to see for themselves how Charles will react in his fight after a long layoff due to a "bruised heart muscle." A final decision on the Louis-Charles bout, tentatively set for Yankee Stadium Sept. 27, depends on it.

Beshore, a blond Pennsylvania Dutchman from Harrismurg, Pa. has trained long and hard for his one "shot at the moon." Injuries to Charles postponed his chance twice, after some 700 rounds of training he's as ready as he'll ever be.

Charles whipped Jersey Joe Walcott in June, 1949, to win NBA recognition for the title vacated by Louis. The New York Commission never went along with the National Boxing Association on that. But if Charles whips Beshore, Eagan indicates he'll recognize a Louis-Charles winner as champ.

Won 66 Out Of 72

On the records there is no comparison of the two fighters. Charles won 66, lost five and drew once in 72 pro fights. Since he won the title he defended twice with knockout wins over Gus Lesnevich and Pat Valentino. At 29, he is near his peak.

Beshore, 26-year-old navy vet, lost his last two fights to Lee Oma at Buffalo. The last one was a split decision Jan. 4. In 33 fights, he has won 26, lost six and fought a draw. But, while Charles reversed most of his defeats to highly-rated opponents, Beshore's loss column includes the likes of Bill McLure and Francisco Dela Cruz.

Charles gets 40 per cent of the receipts and Beshore 17½ per cent.

U. S. Davis Cup Team Is Named

Brown Makes Squad, Patty Is Injured

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (INS)—A four-man team, headed by Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Cal., was selected today to represent the United States in its challenge round defense of the Davis Cup against Australia.

Three of the four men picked to meet the Australians at Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 25-27, were members of last year's team.

They are Schroeder, Billy Talbert of New York and Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla.

Selection of Tom Brown, Jr., of San Francisco, to fill the fourth berth, came as somewhat of a surprise.

Lt. Col. James Bishop, head of the United States Lawn Tennis Association's Davis Cup Selection Committee, said that Wimbledon champion Budge Patty of Los Angeles was bypassed because he suffered an ankle injury yesterday in the doubles play at Newport, R. I.

GOLFER AND SON CLAIM CUP—After Henry Ransom of Dallas, Texas, and Chicago won a playoff for the Tam O'Shanter "world" golf championship yesterday at Chicago, he placed his son Henry, Jr., in the huge trophy. Ransom plants a kiss on the cheek of the 20-month-old yougster and holds the check for $11,000. Ransom beat Chick Harbert of Detroit, 69-72, in the 18-hole playoff for golf's biggest money prize.

Henry Ransom Wins $11,000, Golf's Biggest Cash Prize

Beats Chick Harbert, 69-72, In Playoff At Tam O' Shanter

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (AP) — Henry Ransom of Dallas went six strokes under par on a sensational five-hole streak to blast Detroit's Chick Harbert 69-72 in an 18 hole playoff today and win $11,000 as Tam O'Shanter's "world" golf champion.

The first major triumph for the 39-year-old Texan netted him the biggest cash prize the sport has ever offered. It boosted him from 10th place on the pro's money winning list to second with a total of $18,885.

Sam Snead is still well ahead in the money chase with $29,048. Jim Ferrier, the erstwhile runner-up, now is officially third with $18,771.

Harbert's second award today was $5,000, upping his earnings to $8,398.

Ransom, whose only prime victories in 13 years on the circuit were in 1946 at St. Paul and last year at Wilmington, made each playoff shot against the hard-hitting Harbert count for about $87.

One stroke behind at the 8th hole, the calculating winner, who registers from nearby St. Andrews Golf Club, uncorked one of the most blistering sub-par sprees in the books.

He knocked his four-wood second shot from the rough on No. 9 a dozen feet from the pin and was down for eagle 3.

Ransom then birdied the next four holes. He missed a 10 foot putt on No. 10 which would have given him a consecutive eagle. He settled for a 4. He birdied 11 and 12 and 15 foot putts, and added another birdied to the string on No. 13 by holing a 70 foot pitch shot.

Earlier, Ransom had dropped a 60 foot chip shot on the fourth for another birdie.

For 10 successive holes, Ransom never had a par. Beginning at No. 7 and ending with No. 16, he was one-over-par four times and under par six.

Drives In Two Runs To Win For Cubs, 7-6

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs were within one strike of defeat today, but with two strikes on him and the tying and winning runs on base, Preston Ward singled to give the Cubs a 7 to 6 victory over the Cardinals.

After tying the score twice, the Cardinals seemingly had won the game in the eighth with two runs on Marty Marion's walk, singles by Rocky Nelson and Del Rice and a bad throw by Bob Borkowski.

But the Cards had reckoned without Andy Pafko and Ward. The former put the Cubs back in contention in the last of the eighth with his 27th homer of the season.

Then in the ninth, the Cubs disposed of Harry (The Cat) Brecheen when Mickey Owen and Hal Jeffcoat led off with singles. Carmen Mauro batted for Twig Terwilliger and struck out. Borkowski suffered a similar fate, but Jeffcoat stole second on the third strike.

Then there were two strikes on Ward when he won the game with his timely single which scored two runs: Box:

Manager "Sparky" Chisholm's Tigers upped their lead to 2½ games over Norman Gerdeman's Indians in the Dan Division race of the Little Baseball League by defeating the boys from the Wigwam last night under the lights at Penn Avenue Field by the decisive score of 15-3.

Jerry Landis started the Bengals on the road to victory when he belted a homer with two aboard in the first inning. The Tigers blasted Don Paye out of the box in the 3rd inning and sewed up the game with an eight-run rally that included seven hits. Homers accounted for six tallies in this hectic frame. Both Jimmie Norris and Galen McGregor hit for the circuit with two aboard.

Yankelevitz's single was the lone hit yielded by Bobby Lewis who struck out 14 Indians. Five bases on balls netted the Tribe two of their three tallies in the 6th stanza.

Jerry Landis rapped out three hits and Johnny Hann had two for the winners.

Sox Squeeze Out Win

The Red Sox worked a "squeeze play" to push over the winning run against the Yankees in an overtime battle at Penn Avenue Field. The score was 3-2. The victory gave the Sox a two-game advantage in the Dapper Division.

John Rice's homer in the 6th sent the game into an extra inning. In the 7th, Buddy Campbell doubled, Pete Charuhas walked, Campbell pilfered third and Gary Smith laid down a bunt that hugged the first base line to send Campbell home with the deciding marker.

Fred Billmeyer homered for the Red Sox in the second frame. G. Lewis accounted for two of the losers' four hits. Doug Sullivan struck out 10 Yankees in the last four frames and got credit for the victory. Hale, Yankees' twirler, whiffed 12.

Phillies In 2nd Place

The Phillies moved into the runner-up position in the Dapper Division with a 6-6 record by winning a slugfest from the Pirates at Stitcher Field, 13-10.

Ronnie Diehl of the Phils hit a grand slam homer in the second frame and Wheeler and Grimes belted four-baggers for the Buccos. Eddie Robinson of the Buccos tried to stretch a triple into a homer and was thrown out at the plate, Oneill to Diehl to Hanekamp. Stackman of the Phillies and Apple of the Pirates collected three hits each. Washington, who pitched the first three frames for Manager Howard Northcraft's team, got credit for the win, his third against no defeats. Scores:

The entire card was called off and may be held next Monday, depending on the decision of Yarosz' physician and doctors of the state athletic commission.

Dauthuille Gets Shot At LaMotta

Title Match Is Set In Detroit Sept. 13

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—Jake LaMotta agreed today to defend his middleweight title against Laurent Dauthuille of France, the No. 2 challenger, in Detroit's Olympia Stadium Sept. 13

Jake LaMotta

The two fighters signed at the offices of the International Boxing Club here. Detroit Promoter Nick Londes, IBC representative said he expects a 12,000 gate for the indoor battle.

The Frenchman, rated behind welterweight champion Ray Robinson, as logical contender for the middleweight title, whipped LaMotta in a 10-round bout at Montreal in February, 1949.

LaMotta won the crown by stopping another Frenchman, the late Marcel Cerdan, in Detroit in June, 1949. Jake defeated Tiberio Mitri of Italy in his first title defense last month.

Harry Markson, IBC managing director, said the Dauthuille bout was decided upon because Robinson refused to sign for 15 per cent of the gate.

"Robinson has only himself to blame," Markson added. "It would have been very unprofitable to give him 20 per cent and LaMotta 45 per cent.

The National Boxing Association has threatened to strip LaMotta of his crown if he fails to give Robinson first crack.

NBA president Abe Greene was not immediately available for comment on the LaMotta-Dauthuille match-making.

Pinch Hitter Mitchell Wins Game In Tenth

Rosen's 31st Homer In Ninth Ties Scores, Wynn Is 3-2 Victor

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14 (AP)—Dale Mitchell grounded to Neil Berry in the bottom of the 10th tonight sending in Roberto Avila with the winning run as Cleveland beat Detroit, 3-2.

Berry fielded the pinch hitter's ball at short but the throw to the plate was too late to catch Avila, who was runing in place of Allie Clark.

Clark started the extra inning by doubling. He and Jim Hegan, who had walked, advanced a base each on pitcher Early Wynn's sacrifice. After Ray Boone was walked purposely, Mitchell went to bat for right fielder Bob Kennedy.

Al Rosen forced the game into extra innings by belting his 31st home run of the season in the ninth after two were out.

Detroit had come from behind in the ninth to score twice when Johnny Groth hit his eighth home run of the season with Hoot Evers on base.

The win, which opened a two-game series, put the Indians back into second place, two and a half games behind the leading Tigers and one game ahead of third-place New York.

Early Wynn, the winning pitcher, gave up seven hits while the Indians collected eight off loser Hal Newhouser. It was Wynn's 13th win against five losses and Newhouser's seventh loss against 10 wins. Box:

Durocher Urged To Curb Antics Of Eddie Stanky

Protest Of Giants Ruled Out By Frick

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP) — Ford Frick ruled out today the protest of the New York Giants over Saturday's wild game with the Philadelphia Phillies, and told Leo Durocher to curb the antics of Eddie Stanky.

Manager Durocher played the game under protest after second baseman Stanky was thrown out for jumping up and down and waving his arms to district Andy Seminick, who was at bat. The Phillies won 5-4 in 11 innings.

The "Stanky maneuver" may result in a new rule being written for baseball said Charlie Segar of the National League Service Bureau in explaining the action of Frick, the league president. No rule now covers it, but it won't be allowed anymore anyway.

The maneuver is only possible when the infield defense shifts for a right-hand hitter, placing the second baseman almost directly back of the bag and thus in the axis of the plate and mound.

It was evolved last Tuesday at Boston when Bob Elliott motioned Umpire Al Barlick in back of second, to get out of his line of vision. Stanky took over the spot and jumped up and down, waving his hands.

Stanky employed the same tactics in the important four-game series between the league leading Phillies and the up and coming Giants. The umpires asked Durocher to restrain him until Frick could rule on the case. The truce was called off by Durocher when Seminick slid into the giant third baseman, Hank Thompson, knocking him unconscious.

"Everything is off — do everything you want out there," roared Leo, and Stanky went to work the next time Seminick came up. He was promptly thrown out of the game. Then when Seminick slid into Bill Rigney, substituting for Stanky at second, a free-for-all developed at second.

Frick consulted with Horace Stoneham, Giant president, Durocher, and Stanky. Everyone smiled happily after the meeting.

Interstate Plans Second All-Star Game Saturday

The Interstate Baseball League met last night at the Loyal Order of Moose Home and decided to stage another North-South All-Star game on Saturday, August 19, at 3 p. m., EST., at Moorefield.

This game will replace the postponed game between the Bi-State and Interstate All-Stars which was originally set for Keyser.

The Interstate announced that it is angling for a best-of-three series with the Bi-State League at the conclusion of their regular seasons.

It was announced that a player to qualify for the batting title must be 90 or more times at bat while a pitcher must have at least eight decisions to be eligible for top honors.

The next meeting of the league is set for September 6 at 8 p. m. at the Moose Home.

Centerville and Romney will play off a postponed game at Romney tomorrow (April 16) at 4:30 p. m., EST.

Big Stretch Wins Sanford At Saratoga

Arcaro Is Aboard, Nullify Is Second

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—In a roughly run race, Greentree Stable's Big Stretch was returned the winner of the 38th Sanford Stakes, as the third week of the meeting got under way before a crowd of 11,590.

Ridden by Eddie Arcaro, Big Stretch prevailed by a nose over Phantom Farm's highweighted Nullify, but there was a short delay before the stewards confirmed the colt's victory. Main Chance Farm's Silver Wings, slight favorite, was third, two lengths back, while George D. Widener's Platoon finished four spans farther away. Tenure and Blinker Light, coupled with Big Stretch, completed the small field of juveniles.

There was some bumping just as the leaders passed the eighth pole, and the stewards, after questioning Arcaro, Doug Dodson, and Glen Lasswell, agreed that the winner was not guilty of impeding Nullify. The opinion seemed to be that it was caused by Silver Wings' inability to keep a straight course.

The Sanford is best remembered for having provided racing's greatest upset in 1919 when Man O' War suffered the only defeat of his career by the aptly named Upset.

Donation Is Winner

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—Donation, a son of Reaping Reward and Donita M., was easily best of the eight 4-year-olds in the Margate Purse, top event at the Atlantic City race course today.

The bay gelding circled his rivals to win the six furlongs dash with a length and one-half to spare over E. E. Voynow's Marse George. Another four lengths away Hy-Way Stable's Fightin' Clever gained the third money of the $3,500 purse.

A good weekday crowd of 13,227 wagered heavily on Donation which ran coupled with Rocky Heights. The payoffs were Donation, $3.20, $2.20, $2.20; Marse George, $2.40, $2.60 and Fightin' Clever, $4.80.

Baltimore Signs Pact With Phils

Working Agreement With Browns Ended

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles today announced they are ending a working agreement on players with the St. Louis Browns and taking up instead with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Jack Dunn III, president of the International League team, said the move becomes effective at the close of this season.

Under the St. Louis agreement of the past two years, Baltimore was supposed to have first call on any player to be disposed of by the major league team. St. Louis, in turn, had the privilege of buying at the end of the season for $10,000 each any two eligible Orioles.

Dunn said a contributing factor toward termination of the agreement was the Browns' desire to make it more limited next year. Dunn said St. Louis indicated it wanted to give more help to San Antonio, its outright possession in the Double-A Texas League.

Baltimore will replace Toronto, another International League team, as the Phils' only triple-a affiliate. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed by Dunn.

Big Stretch Wins Sanford At Saratoga

Arcaro Is Aboard, Nullify Is Second

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—In a roughly run race, Greentree Stable's Big Stretch was returned the winner of the 38th Sanford Stakes, as the third week of the meeting got under way before a crowd of 11,590.

Ridden by Eddie Arcaro, Big Stretch prevailed by a nose over Phantom Farm's highweighted Nullify, but there was a short delay before the stewards confirmed the colt's victory. Main Chance Farm's Silver Wings, slight favorite, was third, two lengths back, while George D. Widener's Platoon finished four spans farther away. Tenure and Blinker Light, coupled with Big Stretch, completed the small field of juveniles.

There was some bumping just as the leaders passed the eighth pole, and the stewards, after questioning Arcaro, Doug Dodson, and Glen Lasswell, agreed that the winner was not guilty of impeding Nullify. The opinion seemed to be that it was caused by Silver Wings' inability to keep a straight course.

The Sanford is best remembered for having provided racing's greatest upset in 1919 when Man O' War suffered the only defeat of his career by the aptly named Upset.

Donation Is Winner

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—Donation, a son of Reaping Reward and Donita M., was easily best of the eight 4-year-olds in the Margate Purse, top event at the Atlantic City race course today.

The bay gelding circled his rivals to win the six furlongs dash with a length and one-half to spare over E. E. Voynow's Marse George. Another four lengths away Hy-Way Stable's Fightin' Clever gained the third money of the $3,500 purse.

A good weekday crowd of 13,227 wagered heavily on Donation which ran coupled with Rocky Heights. The payoffs were Donation, $3.20, $2.20, $2.20; Marse George, $2.40, $2.60 and Fightin' Clever, $4.80.

At least 1,700 shooters will take part in the tourney, 27th in succession to be competed here. This tourney has never seen a champion repeat. The spacious ground of the American Tropshooting Association can accommodate 175 shooters at the same time on the 35 traps that extend in front of the clubhouse for well over a quarter of a mile.

Baltimore Signs Pact With Phils

Working Agreement With Browns Ended

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles today announced they are ending a working agreement on players with the St. Louis Browns and taking up instead with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Jack Dunn III, president of the International League team, said the move becomes effective at the close of this season.

Under the St. Louis agreement of the past two years, Baltimore was supposed to have first call on any player to be disposed of by the major league team. St. Louis, in turn, had the privilege of buying at the end of the season for $10,000 each any two eligible Orioles.

Dunn said a contributing factor toward termination of the agreement was the Browns' desire to make it more limited next year. Dunn said St. Louis indicated it wanted to give more help to San Antonio, its outright possession in the Double-A Texas League.

Baltimore will replace Toronto, another International League team, as the Phils' only triple-a affiliate. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed by Dunn.

WHIRLAWAY LEAVES FOR FRANCE—Whirlaway, 12-year-old Calumet Farm stallion who earned more than $500,000 in his racing days, enters a special stall for loading aboard the SS. Elyssia at New York on his way to stud in France. The horse is under lease for three seasons at Marcel Boussac's thoroughbred establishment near Paris. He is the first thoroughbred ever exported by Warren Wright, Calumet owner. Whirlaway won racing's triple crown in 1941—Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes. He won 32 of his 60 starts and earned $561,161.50.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Thumbs Up, Thumbs Down

RADIO doesn't go in for revivals very often, so it's rather surprising to come upon two of them at once—one altogether satisfactory, the other altogether deplorable. "Information, Please" is being given a four-week experimental run on four stations—WOR, New York, KNBC in San Francisco, WIRA in Madison, Wis., and WGY in Schenectady. And NBC, by popular request — it says here in a press release — is trotting out those old John Barrymore transcriptions of Shakespeare.

John Crosby

James Fleming, who edited the thirteen - year - old Barrymore programs, explains apologetically: "The broadcasts were not intended as streamlined versions of the plays. Rather, they were Barrymore improvising around Shakespeare." They certainly were Mr. Fleming should have pointed out, too, that the original programs were part of that endless CBS-NBC feud. CBS had lined up Burgess Meredith for what it claimed was to be the first "Hamlet" ever heard on the air. NBC then got John Barrymore out of the saloon and hurled him up against Meredith—same time, same day (June 24, 1937), same play. Barrymore, as I recall, won the decision by a handsome margin.

* * *

It's difficult to tell how good the original broadcasts were, though there are grounds for suspicion that they were pretty bad. For one thing, Barrymore had been drinking at the time. For another, he had little experience with microphones. His tendency to creep up on the mike and bellow into it from a distance of two inches was so bad the engineers had to build a fence around it to keep him at a proper distance.

At any rate, the revival resembles neither Barrymore nor Shakespeare. The transcriptions were made in New York over a 3,000-mile hook-up from Hollywood, which was nowhere as free of electrical disturbances as it is now. Also, the art of transcription has improved immeasurably since 1937.

Whether the fault lay with the 1937 engineers or the 1937 Barrymore, or a combination of both, the fact remains that the great voice—one of the finest vocal instruments of all time—came through without a trace of its usual distinction. At its best—and I'm not exaggerating—it sound like Adolph Menjou imitating Fredric March imitating John Barrymore imitating himself. At its worst . . . well, never mind.

* * *

In Barrymore's defense, I ought to say that neither he nor the Bard could compete successfully against the sound effects dubbed in by Mr. Fleming. They consisted largely of a kettle drum and some terrifying wind effects which must have been left over from some NBC drama about a tornado.

I was one of the comparatively few persons at the opening of Mr. B's last stage appearance in that lamentable enterprise, "My Dear Children," where the great man was exhibited more or less like a trained bear. Well, I'm sure the trained bear in this instance was having as much, if not more, fun as the people who paid their shilling to see him. I felt the exhibition was a grave error in taste. I feel the same about this new revival. Mr. Barrymore should be left at rest to gather the dust of legend. If they disinter him many more times, there won't be any legend. This week, if you're still interested, he'll be doing "Richard III" (NBC, 8 p. m. EDT, Thursday).

* * *

To turn to happier matters, the revival of "Information, Please," which will become permanent if enough letters pour in, was as good as ever. In fact, it was a little bit better. The broadcasts are on tape, a device that has been perfected since the program went off the air in June, 1948, and that means the experts can bandy information and witticisms as long as they like. Then the editors and the engineers step in and edit it all to half an hour, eliminating the dull parts and leaving only the sparkle.

The original program brought back the regulars, the urbane Clifton Fadiman, as emcee, the lovable though hopelessly confused Franklin P. Adams, and the monstrously learned John Kieran, along with two noted guests—Fred Allen and Howard Lindsay. They were all wonderful, and so was the program.

The only question I can remember (or have space for) was sent in by Harpo Marx. What game, asked Harpo, is played on one foot? The answer accepted by Mr. Fadiman was hop-scotch. My own suggestion was footsie, which shows what kind of athlete I am. It turned out that footsie was what Harpo had in mind, which shows what kind of an athlete he is, too.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

E N A R H T U A K E M G T M W K A W R V F W U V J ' K N A V T E W F A D D - E H U A L, V T E R G D R D V E E A T O U V O O H A D L — D H D D W.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all the friends and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy following the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Ressie Blume. We also thank the Rev. M. A. Keesecker, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and donated cars.
Mr. Frank C. Blume & family

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved friend, Phyllis (Humbird) McCreary, who died 2 years ago today, August 15, 1948.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought her death so near,
Only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of parting without farewell.

She little thought when leaving home,
That she would never return,
That she so soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.

God knows how much we miss her,
Never shall her memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where she is laid.
Sadly missed by
Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Knipe

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all the friends and neighbors for their kindness and expressions of sympathy following the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Ressie Blume. We also thank the Rev. M. A. Keesecker, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and donated cars.
Mr. Frank C. Blume & family

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved friend, Phylis (Humbird) McCreary, who died 2 years ago today, August 15, 1948.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought her death so near,
Only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of parting without farewell.

She little thought when leaving home,
That she would never return,
That she so soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.

God knows how much we miss her,
Never shall her memory fade.
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where she is laid.
Sadly missed by
Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Knipe

Market, In Slowest Trading In Two Months, Pokes Ahead

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—The stock market timidly poked ahead today in the slowest trading in two months.

Sales dropped to only 1,280,000 shares, a low since June 16, and compared with 1,680,000 Friday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks added .1 of one point at 77.5. The industrial group was unchanged but rail and utilities showed minor gains.

Only 1,070 individual issues changed hands of which 446 moved up and 352 declined.

Radio-television issues, which took the worst beating in Friday's market after advancing all week, got back on a steady footing. Up about ½ point each were Philco at 40⅛, Zenith 50¾ and Motorola 41⅞. Admiral was a trifle lower at 28. Unchanged were Radio Corp. at 17⅝ and Emerson 17.

Active and higher—and some of these usually appear on the ticker tape infrequently — were Laclede Gas at 6⅝, Smith Carpet 21½, Missouri-Kansas-Texas preferred 30¾, Western Union 35⅝, Pacific Tin 4⅛, Murray Corp. 20⅝, Patino Mines 13¾, and Timken Detroit Axle 18⅛.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

It looks like a long pull in Vermont.

Yes, sir, the Census Bureau has just announced that the cows in Vermont outnumber the people and it has caused a great deal of comment.

Of course, not everyone was surprised at the news. When one Texas cowhand heard about it, he said: "What's people?"

But the gossip in Vermont must be interesting. I can hear two cows discussing a third saying: "She has a figure just like a human being."

The situation really gets mixed up in Vermont during election campaigns. The candidates have to look the crowds over very carefully before they say, "Fellow voters. . ."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

COUNT AS YOU GO ALONG

A FINE card-reader collects a bit of information from everything that occurs—from each bid, pass or double, from the opening lead and then from the play of each card. If you are making inferences from each development, and counting honors and cards as you go along, you eventually have considerable information about the facts you have neither seen nor been told. That kind of information steers a real cardsman on a true course.

	♠ 6 2 ♥ K 10 8 7 ♦ 10 8 3 ♣ A K 10 5
♠ J 9 8 4 3 ♥ 9 5 3 2 ♦ K 4 2 ♣ Q	N W E S	♠ 7 ♥ A J 6 ♦ Q 9 5 ♣ J 7 6 4 3 2
	♠ A K Q 10 5 ♥ Q 4 ♦ A J 7 6 ♣ 9 8

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 NT	Pass
4 ♠

Don't try to defend that last bid in the light of anything you will find in the good bridge books, unless it be something about not entrusting a contract to an unskilled partner. This particular South admitted he hogged it. But he pulled out the game.

He got a chance for neat counting from the start of the play, when he read the heart 2 as a fourth-best lead. The J covered dummy's 7 and the Q won. Two top spades found East discarding a club and complicating the picture. Next he finessed the heart 8, expecting it not to win, but to force the A. He played low on the diamond 5 return, the K winning, then won the diamond Q with the A when the 2 was returned.

Seeking a count of West, he led the club 9, read the Q as a singleton and won with dummy's A. He now knew West's original pattern of 5 spades, 4 hearts, 1 club and hence 3 diamonds. Now he cashed dummy's heart K and 10, shedding a club and a diamond, and led to the diamond J. He now had three trumps left, the Q-10-5, and West three, the J-9-8. So he led the 5. West won with the 8 for his side's third trick. But then he had to lead from the J-9 into the fork of the Q-10 for the last two tricks.

From the time of the first club trick on, South had every card in West's hand as clearly in his mind as if he had craned a long neck over to take a peek.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ A Q 9 8 2 ♥ K J 10 7 5 ♦ 10 4 ♣ 3
♠ 10 6 4 3 ♥ 9 6 4 ♦ K J 9 8 3 ♣ 8	N W E S	♠ K 7 5 ♥ Q 8 3 ♦ 6 2 ♣ K 7 6 5 4
	♠ J ♥ A 2 ♦ A Q 7 5 ♣ A Q J 10 9 2

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

What play by East can beat South's 6-Clubs if the heart 10 wins the first trick, club Q is finessed, heart A and club A win, then the club J is led?

Market, In Slowest Trading In Two Months, Pokes Ahead

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—The stock market timidly poked ahead today in the slowest trading in two months.

Sales dropped to only 1,280,000 shares, a low since June 16, and compared with 1,680,000 Friday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks added .1 of one point at 77.5. The industrial group was unchanged but rail and utilities showed minor gains.

Only 1,070 individual issues changed hands of which 446 moved up and 352 declined.

Radio-television issues, which took the worst beating in Friday's market after advancing all week, got back on a steady footing. Up about ½ point each were Philco at 40⅛, Zenith 50¾ and Motorola 41⅞. Admiral was a trifle lower at 28. Unchanged were Radio Corp. at 17⅝ and Emerson 17.

Active and higher—and some of these usually appear on the ticker tape infrequently — were Laclede Gas at 6⅝, Smith Carpet 21½, Missouri-Kansas-Texas preferred 30⅜, Western Union 35⅝, Pacific Tin 4⅛, Murray Corp. 20⅜, Patino Mines 13¾, and Timken Detroit Axle 18⅛.

Standard Gas and Electric, a strong spot last week, fell back ⅛ to 7⅞.

Motors had a little trouble, too, with ⅜ chipped off General Motors at 88⅜ and Chrysler 67¼.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

It looks like a long pull in Vermont.

Yes, sir, the Census Bureau has just announced that the cows in Vermont outnumber the people and it has caused a great deal of comment.

Of course, not everyone was surprised at the news. When one Texas cowhand heard about it, he said: "What's people?"

But the gossip in Vermont must be interesting. I can hear two cows discussing a third saying: "She has a figure just like a human being."

The cows probably have a tough time with neighbors constantly dropping in to borrow a quart of milk.

The situation really gets mixed up in Vermont during election campaigns. The candidates have to look the crowds over very carefully before they say, "Fellow voters. . ."

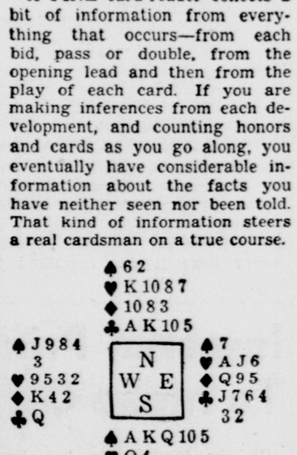
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

COUNT AS YOU GO ALONG

A FINE card-reader collects a bit of information from everything that occurs—from each bid, pass or double, from the opening lead and then from the play of each card. If you are making inferences from each development, and counting honors and cards as you go along, you eventually have considerable information about the facts you have neither seen nor been told. That kind of information steers a real cardsman on a true course.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 NT	Pass
4 ♠

Don't try to defend that last bid in the light of anything you will find in the good bridge books, unless it be something about not entrusting a contract to an unskilled partner. This particular South admitted he hogged it. But he pulled out the game.

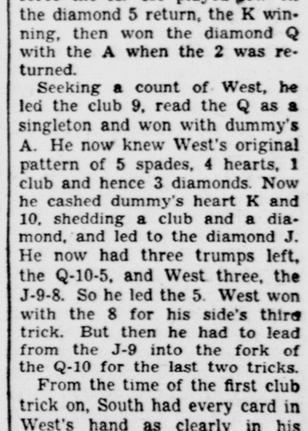
He got a chance for neat counting from the start of the play, when he read the heart 2 as a fourth-best lead. The J covered dummy's 7 and the Q won. Two top spades found East discarding a club and complicating the picture. Next he finessed the heart 8, expecting it not to win, but to force the A. He played low on the diamond 5 return, the K winning, then won the diamond Q with the A when the 2 was returned.

Seeking a count of West, he led the club 9, read the Q as a singleton and won with dummy's A. He now knew West's original pattern of 5 spades, 4 hearts, 1 club and hence 3 diamonds. Now he cashed dummy's heart K and 10, shedding a club and a diamond, and led to the diamond J. He now had three trumps left, the Q-10-5, and West three, the J-9-8. So he led the 5. West won with the 8 for his side's third trick. But then he had to lead from the J-9 into the fork of the Q-10 for the last two tricks.

From the time of the first club trick on, South had every card in West's hand as clearly in his mind as if he had craned a long neck over to take a peek.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

What play by East can beat South's 6-Clubs if the heart 10 wins the first trick, club Q is finessed, heart A and club A win, then the club J is led?

Council Increases City Tax Rate By Two Cents

New Rate Is $1.27 Per $100; Buchholtz Recommends Raising Of Operating Levy

Cumberland's city tax rate will be raised two cents to $1.27 per $100 of assessable property for the 1950-51 fiscal year, under an ordinance passed last night by the Mayor and Council.

During a discussion of the tax levy, Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz urged that the council request the State Legislature for permission to raise the city's 90-cent per $100 operating levy to $1.

Buchholtz recalled that he had made the same request two years ago.

"The two-cent increase in the levy is only for debt retirement and does not increase funds for operating expenses," Buchholtz explained.

Stating that "we can't continue operating" under the 90-cent limit, Buchholtz pointed out that the levy makes no provision for salary increases for city employes.

Asks Incentive Raises

He said "incentive" raises should be provided for employes in supervisory capacities, pointing out that pay differentials in some departments are so small that employes do not take examinations for higher positions.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long said his departments are undermanned and are working under handicaps.

Long said he is "not satisfied" with pay differentials, pointing out that a sergeant's pay in the Police Department is only 17 cents a day more than that of a "foot man."

Buchholtz and Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder agreed that blanket salary increases were not the answer to the problem.

Urging action before the Legislature convenes next January, Buchholtz said incentive salary raises shoud be given because of higher costs of living. He urged salary studies in each department, commenting that the system was set up "all wrong to begin with."

Also passed last night was an ordinance setting up the various department appropriations for the 1950-51 fiscal year. They total $1,037,430, as compared to $1,061,130 the preceding year.

The current fiscal year began July 1.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said appropriations must be based on the amount of revenue the city is due to receive.

The Weather

With the weather still playing seasonal pranks, the temperatures were just high enough at 83 yesterday afternoon to be called "summer and low enough in the morning at 46 to be "late autumn." Cumberlanders, who didn't venture out before 11 a. m., experienced pleasant temperatures skirting the low 80's. Most of us, however, were forced to shed and carry our morning coats as the city warmed up under the hot sun. Late night reading was 64. Today will be partly cloudy with high 80 to 85, according to the Weatherman.

Public Schools In County Open On September 7

Teachers Meeting Set For Sept. 6

Well over 15,000 elementary and high school students in Allegany County will end their summer vacations Thursday, September 7, when public schools are scheduled to reopen at 9 a. m.

Beginning of the 1950-51 school term will be preceded by several organization meetings for both principals and teachers with the first scheduled for September 1 when principals will meet in Cumberland.

Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, said the annual preschool meeting for supervisors, principals and teachers will be held September 6 in Fort Hill High School.

Dr. Wesley Gewehr, professor of history at University of Maryland, will be the principal speaker at the all-day meeting. He will speak on the subject, "Where Are We Going?" The meeting opens at 10 a. m.

Faculty meetings will be held in all schools September 5 to permit principals and teachers to organize school programs and personnel procedures.

Dr. Kopp said the opening day of school and Friday will be limited to half days with classes being dismissed at noon. A full-day schedule will begin Monday, September 11.

In a letter to principals detailing propedure for the reopening of schools, Dr. Kopp reiterated the laws governing the age of admittance to school. He said:

"The age for the admission of beginning children to school remains as in the past. A child who is six years of age on or before January 1, 1951, is eligible to be admitted. No exceptions can be made to this regulation."

He also instructed principals that state laws require all children to be "successfully vaccinated" or have a certificate from a doctor indicating immunity from smallpox, before entering shool.

Public school enrollments are expected to pass the 15,000 mark, and Dr. Kopp said a record number of students will likely be registered in the county high schools.

During the past several weeks, schools have been cleaned and refinished in preparation for the fall term. Some minor repair work also has been completed.

Council Approves Safety Program For City Workers

Department Heads To Be Responsible

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long last night submitted a report of the safety committee named by the Mayor and Council to study city departments.

The council ordered the report accepted and the recommendations put into effect. They are as follows:

Report all on-the-job injuries, treated by a doctor, to the State Industrial Accident Commission and to the commissioner of the department involved.

Compile a monthly record of the number of employe accidents, the frequency record for each department and the total for city departments.

All divisions to report accidents to one central office, with the mayor's office suggested.

The head of each department to be responsible for safety.

Supervisors in all departments to hold a safety meeting once a month. A report of the meeting should be forwarded to the Council as to attendance, items discussed and unsafe conditions.

Long said the safety department of the State Industrial Accident Commission will aid each supervisor in organizing the meetings.

Mayor Thomas S. Post praised the report and agreed to send letters of thanks to the committee members.

In other action last night, Long asked when flood control work in the Williams Street area near South Mechanic Street would be completed. He cited the resulting trafic problems for the Police Department and said business people in the area were inconvenienced.

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick said he understood the work was nearing completion. Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said he was told workmen struck a bed of hard rock, which delayed excavation.

Referred to Long and Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn was a letter from W. Arnold Gunther, state bacteriologist, who said he had received fines for parking at the south side of the Public Safety Building, where the Cumberland Branch Laboratory is located. Gunther suggested metering all parking spaces and providing tokens for those who use cars on official business.

The John I. Vandergrift Company was ordered paid $9,170 as the fourth estimate for removing houses on Valley Street in connection with flood control work.

Tabled for one week was a request from Cumberland Voiture No. 164, Forty and Eight, for a council contribution of $500 toward a Halloween celebration this year.

Julian F. Schonter and John D. Wilson, representing the City Cab Service, applied for a taxi stand to be located in the vicinity of 29 South Centre Street. The letter was referred to Long.

Refunds were ordered paid to James W. Gray, 425 Valley Street, of $4.90 overpaid on 1949 city taxes; and to Kathryn Greene, 19 Roberts Street, for a $12.45 overpayment on 1949 city taxes.

The council granted a request by Clyde C. Gurley to operate a 20-car parking lot at 226-228 Frederick Street, on the recommendation of Chief Flynn.

Mapleside Plans Annual Festival

The annual festival of the Mapleside Playground Association will be held Thursday evening at the playground, starting with a covered dish supper at 5:30 o'clock.

Games for all ages will feature the entertainment. The public is invited.

Mrs. Blanche Lueck is chairman of the festival committee, assisted by Mrs. Ethel Hudson, Mrs. Maude Catlett, Mrs. Margaret Dunlap, Mrs. Dot Sonners, Mrs. Edna Lueck, William Dunlap and Kenneth Tressler.

Equity Suits Filed

Bils of complaint were docketed in Circuit Court yesterday for Paul W. Weisenmiller vs. Mary E. Weisenmiller; and for Doris E. Harris vs. William J. Harris.

Three Traffic Projects Cited

Three projects designed to speed the flow of traffic in the city were discussed yesterday at the August meeting of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission at City Hall.

William H. Marean, special assistant to City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer, conferred with the group. He was requested to prepare preliminary plans for the projects in the absence of Rizer, who is on vacation.

Chairman James Alfred Avirett listed the three projects in their order of importance as follows:

Widening of Orchard Street to provide a through connection from Williams to Wineow Streets, eliminating a sharp curve near the A. and P. Supermarket.

Eliminating the hazardous curve at Oldtown Road and Thomas Street.

Providing an overhead crossing to carry Chase Street over Greene Street on a level with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks.

Avirett pointed out that the widening of Orchard Street would also faciliate the flow of traffic from South Centre Street.

Commenting on the need for the second project, Mayor Thomas S. Post said that large trucks cannot negotiate the present curve at Oldtown Road and Thomas Street.

Avirett said the Chase Street crossing would permit Kelly-Springfield traffic to avoid congestion on Greene Street and would add to safety of school children who must walk across Greene Street at present.

Imperial Prince Of Dokkies To Make Official Visit Here

Council Plans Support Of Parkway Bill

$500 Granted To Industry Group

Making of "necessary contacts" to support passage of the Canal Parkway bill now pending in Congress was approved last night by the Mayor and Council.

The action was suggested in a letter from William L. Wilson, Jr., president of the Western Maryland Motor Club. He urged that letters be sent to Rep. J. Glenn Beall and to U. S. Senator Millard E. Tydings.

Wilson pointed out that building of the proposed parkway from Georgetown to Cumberland would improve economic and industrial conditions in this area and would increase employment.

Payment of $500 was authorized to the Allegany County Industrial Promotion Committee as the city's share of a $1,000 retainer fee for Richardson Wood and Company.

The Clyde Beatty Circus of Los Angeles, Calif., was granted permission to show here on Thursday, September 7, at the Mid-City Park on Wineow Street. A $100 cash deposit will be made with the city.

Retirement Approved

Other orders passed by the council follow:

Approval of the request of Edward F. Lible to be retired from the Fire Department as of July 27, and authorizing a contract for his employment for one year as electrician in the Fire Department to make repairs to the fire alarm system, at a monthly salary of $220.

Flanagan Reported In Fair Condition

Hospital attaches said Flanagan suffered fractures of both arms and the right ankle and possibly internal injuries.

Flanagan fell 25 feet off the trestle on the West Virginia side of the river as he was returning from Cumberland about 2 a. m.

Ridgeley Chief of Police Arch McCord and several citizens found Flanagan lying unconscious on the rock-covered river bank a few feet from the water's edge.

Boy, 5, Falls Into Cistern

Five-year-old Michael Leon Brewer was showing friends a lacerated leg yesterday, the only injury he suffered when he fell to the bottom of a deep cistern on Baker Street Sunday.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brewer, 703 Baker Street, told his parents he was looking for a special type of wood to construct a model airplane when he toppled into the partially filled hole.

An older sister, Mary Lou Brewer, said she saw her brother fall but by the time she reached the open-top cistern the boy had climbed back to the top. Loose fill dirt down one side enabled him to make the climb.

The child was treated in Memorial Hospital for a deeply lacerated left leg and discharged. The sister said the cistern is closed in by a fence but the structure is "rotting away and leaves holes big enough for an adult to pass through."

The boy, she said, apparently had gone to the vacant lot in the 700-block on Baker Street searching for branches of a tree that he uses to make model airplanes.

The family said the hole was drained and partially filled after another child fell into it last year.

Young Democrats Plan Activities

The Young Democrat Club is planning an extensive program to encourage the registration of all citizens eligible to vote in the fall elections, David Kauffman, president, said last night.

A committee has been named and is working out a program of publicity and education on registration procedure.

The club also plans to hold a picnic here September 12. It will be a basket affair, probably in Constitution Park, however, plans are still in the preliminary stage, Kauffman stated.

Sunday at 6 p. m. (EST) the Garrett County Young Democrats will hold a picnic at Pleasant Valley Recreation Area, Bittinger, and members of the local club plan to participate. Kauffman has been invited as a guest speaker.

The local club is also planning to participate in the Labor Day parade with Billy McDermott, Jr., Margaret Jane Jolley, and David Wood a committee to complete parade arrangements.

Nelson W. Russler, general chairman, presided and Cromwell Zembower, LaVale, was elected secretary with Felix Foote, Lonaconing, elected treasurer.

Tentative plans were outlined and committee appointments discussed. Russler said he will attempt to name the personnel of most of the committees by the next meeting scheduled for September 25 at LaVale.

Davis Man Killed By Rifle Shot

A 60-year-old Davis, W. Va., man who was caring for two teenage boys while their parents were working in Baltimore, was found dead yesterday morning of a gunshot wound in the home of his employers.

Tucker County Sheriff D. E. Crosten identified the victim as Delton Ray Whitehair and said he died of a self-inflicted shot from a .22 rifle. The bullet entered Whitehair's head just above the right ear and lodged somewhere in the skull, he added.

Whitehair had been caring for the 16 and 14-year-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Tennet, Auviltown, W. Va., while they were employed in Baltimore, according to Sheriff Crosten.

The youths came back from milking at about 8:30 a. m. and found Whitehair dead on a bed.

Sheriff Crosten said the man left a note telling the Tennets not to blame the boys, that he had shot himself.

The sheriff also stated that Whitehair had a son, Carl Whitehair, who killed himself last June in Akron, Ohio.

Justice of the Peace Lawrence Lipscomb also investigated.

Whitehair had lived at the Nelle Rest Home, Parsons, W. Va., for about a year before coming to the Tennet home. He was born in Henry, W. Va., a son of William Whitehair, Cassville, W. Va., and the late Eliza Ark Whitehair.

Besides his father, he is survived by one son, Earl Whitehair, Cambridge, Ohio; one stepson, Opha Buckbee, Thomas, W. Va.; one stepdaughter, Mrs. Dewey Wratchford, Thomas; five sisters, Mrs. Lily Reed, Wooster, Ohio; Mrs. Ralph Dillinger, Davis; Mrs. Lula Mallick, Kenamore, Ohio; Mrs. Leo Lahman, Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Linda Miller, Cassville; two brothers, Walter Whitehair, Cassville, and Ferman Cassville, Davis; six grandchildren, one great-grandchild.

The body is at the home of his stepdaughter, Mrs. Wratchford. A funeral service will be conducted Thursday afternoon at Flanagan Hill Church. Burial will be in Flanagan Hill Cemetery.

Plan Proposed For Memorial Highway Here

State VFW Council Endorses Project

A proposal to rename and dedicate the Mt. Savage Road as a memorial to men and women who lost their lives in World Wars I and II, and to call the thoroughfare "Veterans Memorial Highway" has been endorsed by the Council of Administration of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Maryland.

First suggested by Old Rail Post No. 6025, VFW, Mt. Savage, the idea has been approved by posts in this district, and District Commander Edward Murray, Mt. Savage, submitted a resolution to the Council Sunday at their monthly meeting in the War Memorial Building, Baltimore.

The resolution urges improvements to the roadway, calling attention to its narrow road bed and series of sharp curves. A number of fatal accidents have occurred on the road and traffic over it has become increasingly heavy.

With the completion of the new Mt. Savage high school, the resolution states travel by children over the route will be greatly increased.

Old Rail Post membership believes the state should consider immediate improvements, and as these are completed, propose that the road be named and dedicated in honor of the war dead of this county.

The road extends from U. S. Route 40 just west of the Narrows, runs through Barrellville, Corriganville, Mt. Savage, Zihlman to Frostburg, where it again joins Route 40.

Copies of the resolution, as unanimously endorsed by the VFW State Department Council, are to be sent to Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Governor William Preston Lane, members of the Maryland State Roads Commission and other officials.

The Council of Administration, in their first meeting since the convention here, also laid plans for the annual membership drive, delved into a program of civil and military preparedness and a program to combat communism, and obligated a number of appointed and elected officers. State Commander Ward W. Caddington presided.

Attending from this district were Frank Webb, junior vice commander, F. Allen Weatherholt, public relations officer; Lester Mull, encampment chairman, and Edward J. Murray, district commander.

News In Brief

A child hygiene clinic will be held today at 10 a. m. in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Elks Pledged To Fight Against Communism

Exalted Ruler Kyle Addresses Delegates

So great is the devotion to "country and our way of life that as long as there is a single Elk we will never run the risk of prostration beneath the heel of communism or any other foe."

That is the challenge issued to members of the Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia Elks Association by Grand Exalted Ruler Joseph B. Kyle, Gary, Ind., who spoke at a banquet climaxing the four-day session here last night.

Referring to the present emergency, Kyle said that local and state lodges would be called upon to perform the same activities as they had during other conflicts and the "Grand Lodge has pledged our entire resources to the support of the nation and the Commander-in-Chief.

"That is your mandate to me," he said in referring to his acceptance speech at Miami, Fla., "and I shall execute it faithfully."

Kyle expressed the belief the nation is fighting a religious war and "fighting a Godless thing in communism," which he termed a "poisonous corruption in the bloodstream of civilization."

Must Fight Traitors

"With the stakes so high," he continued, "we cannot afford to be tolerant with traitors. Neither can we tolerate those so blind as who refuse to see what communism has proved itself to be."

The Grand Exalted Ruler added that "Elkdom will continue to be militant."

Kyle paid tribute to the Tri-State Elks Association and said that during the past ten years its membership had increased 96 per cent. He added that its outlay for charitable work almost equalled the national average.

Tribute also was paid Cumberland Lodge which is celebrating its 63rd anniversary during the convention here.

Referring again to the Order, Kyle said that "Elks are doers for others and that is what attracts men to our Order. We need more old-time religion which is the basis of our form of government," he added.

Kyle said that as he entered upon his term of office, Elks are determined to make this year one of "outstanding community service. That is my keynote."

Kyle said the Elks Order exists to serve the community and to defend the American way of life which is based upon brotherhood and the spirit of neighborliness.

Social Clinics Planned

Continuing, he said, each Elks lodge is being asked to make a survey during the year in each community listing safety, recreation, health, juvenile delinquency and aid to underprivileged "to aid in the physicial, moral and spiritual welfare of our youth."

He said the Grand Lodge will hold clinics in each of the 151 districts and these problems will be discussed.

On subersive groups, the Grand Exalted Ruler said:

"Our service is to see that the community is made safe against subversive groups. The Elks Order has the greatest challenge than at any time in its history.

"We will insist upon, and help, keeping our country strong," he asserted.

Kyle paid tribute to Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, president of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children which has received proceeds from the Elks Minstrels here; A. Charles Stewart, Frostburg, past chairman of the Board of Grand Trustees; Robert Scott, superintendent of the Elks National Home, Bedford, Va.; Charles Hawthorne, Baltimore, past Grand Esteemed Lecturing Knight.

Others recognized included Dr. George Bennett, Baltimore, founder of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, who said "work being done here is as good as in any community in the country; Mrs. Kyle, Mrs. Scott and Mrs. John J. Mealey, and Harry S. Tracy, general convention chairman.

Kyle was introduced by Dr. Robert South Barrett, Alexandria, Va., past grand exalted ruler.

Mosner Is Toastmaster

John H. Mosner was toastmaster and John J. Mealey, president of the association, presented Kyle with a check for $200 representing its debt to the national foundation. The foundation is leading the fight against cerebral palsy, one of the campaigns undertaken by the Elks this year.

Approximately 250 attended the banquet at the Elks Lodge, South Centre Street. Music was provided by the Elks' Quartet.

Kyle arrived here yesterday from Bedford, Va., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Scott and officers of the local lodge and state delegation. One of his acts was an official visit to Frostburg Lodge, 470, Frostburg.

The convention ends today. Business sessions are set for 10 a. m. when newly elected officers will be installed.

They were elected at a business session yesterday morning and include:

Council Increases City Tax Rate By Two Cents

New Rate Is $1.27 Per $100; Buchholtz Recommends Raising Of Operating Levy

Cumberland's city tax rate will be raised two cents to $1.27 per $100 of assessable property for the 1950-51 fiscal year, under an ordinance passed last night by the Mayor and Council.

During a discussion of the tax levy, Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz urged that the council request the State Legislature for permission to raise the city's 90-cent per $100 operating levy to $1.

Buchholtz recalled that he had made the same request two years ago.

"The two-cent increase in the levy is only for debt retirement and does not increase funds for operating expenses," Buchholtz explained.

Stating that "we can't continue operating" under the 90-cent limit, Buchholtz pointed out that the levy makes no provision for salary increases for city employes.

Asks Incentive Raises

He said "incentive" raises should be provided for employes in supervisory capacities, pointing out that pay differentials in some departments are so small that employes do not take examinations for higher positions.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long said his departments are undermanned and are working under handicaps.

Long said he is "not satisfied" with pay differentials, pointing out that a sergeant's pay in the Police Department is only 17 cents a day more than that of a "foot man."

Buchholtz and Street Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder agreed that blanket salary increases were not the answer to the problem.

Urging action before the Legislature convenes next January, Buchholtz said incentive salary raises shoud be given because of higher costs of living. He urged salary studies in each department, commenting that the system was set up "all wrong to begin with."

Also passed last night was an ordinance setting up the various department appropriations for the 1950-51 fiscal year. They total $1,037,430, as compared to $1,061,130 the preceding year.

The current fiscal year began July 1.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said appropriations must be based on the amount of revenue the city is due to receive.

The Weather

With the weather still playing seasonal pranks, the temperatures were just high enough at 83 yesterday afternoon to be called "summer and low enough in the morning at 46 to be "late autumn." Cumberlanders, who didn't venture out before 11 a. m., experienced pleasant temperatures skirting the low 80's. Most of us, however, were forced to shed and carry our morning coats as the city warmed up under the hot sun. Late night reading was 64. Today will be partly cloudy with high 80 to 85, according to the Weatherman.

Public Schools In County Open On September 7

Teachers Meeting Set For Sept. 6

Well over 15,000 elementary and high school students in Allegany County will end their summer vacations Thursday, September 7, when public schools are scheduled to reopen at 9 a. m.

Beginning of the 1950-51 school term will be preceded by several organization meetings for both principals and teachers with the first scheduled for September 1 when principals will meet in Cumberland.

Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, said the annual preschool meeting for supervisors, principals and teachers will be held September 6 in Fort Hill High School.

Dr. Wesley Gewehr, professor of history at University of Maryland, will be the principal speaker at the all-day meeting. He will speak on the subject, "Where Are We Going?" The meeting opens at 10 a. m.

Faculty meetings will be held in all schools September 5 to permit principals and teachers to organize school programs and personnel procedures.

Dr. Kopp said the opening day of school and Friday will be limited to half days with classes being dismissed at noon. A full-day schedule will begin Monday, September 11.

In a letter to principals detailing propedure for the reopening of schools, Dr. Kopp reiterated the laws governing the age of admittance to school. He said:

"The age for the admission of beginning children to school remains as in the past. A child who is six years of age on or before January 1, 1951, is eligible to be admitted. No exceptions can be made to this regulation."

He also instructed principals that state laws require all children to be "successfully vaccinated" or have a certificate from a doctor indicating immunity from smallpox, before entering shool.

Public school enrollments are expected to pass the 15,000 mark, and Dr. Kopp said a record number of students will likely be registered in the county high schools.

During the past several weeks, schools have been cleaned and refinished in preparation for the fall term. Some minor repair work also has been completed.

Mapleside Plans Annual Festival

The annual festival of the Mapleside Playground Association will be held Thursday evening at the playground, starting with a covered dish supper at 5:30 o'clock.

Games for all ages will feature the entertainment. The public is invited.

Mrs. Blanche Lueck is chairman of the festival committee, assisted by Mrs. Ethel Hudson, Mrs. Maude Catlett, Mrs. Margaret Dunlap, Mrs. Dot Sonners, Mrs. Edna Lueck, William Dunlap and Kenneth Tressler.

Most of the equipment on the playground has been furnished by the association through benefit events since it was organized in 1947.

Three Traffic Projects Cited

Three projects designed to speed the flow of traffic in the city were discussed yesterday at the August meeting of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission at City Hall.

William H. Marean, special assistant to City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer, conferred with the group. He was requested to prepare preliminary plans for the projects in the absence of Rizer, who is on vacation.

Chairman James Alfred Avirett listed the three projects in their order of importance as follows:

Widening of Orchard Street to provide a through connection from Williams to Wineow Streets, eliminating a sharp curve near the A. and P. Supermarket.

Eliminating the hazardous curve at Oldtown Road and Thomas Street.

Providing an overhead crossing to carry Chase Street over Greene Street on a level with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks.

Avirett pointed out that the widening of Orchard Street would also faciliate the flow of traffic from South Centre Street.

Commenting on the need for the second project, Mayor Thomas S. Post said that large trucks cannot negotiate the present curve at Oldtown Road and Thomas Street.

Avirett said the Chase Street crossing would permit Kelly-Springfield traffic to avoid congestion on Greene Street and would add to safety of school children who must walk across Greene Street at present.

Council Approves Safety Program For City Workers

Department Heads To Be Responsible

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long last night submitted a report of the safety committee named by the Mayor and Council to study city departments.

The council ordered the report accepted and the recommendations put into effect. They are as follows:

Report all on-the-job injuries, treated by a doctor, to the State Industrial Accident Commission and to the commissioner of the department involved.

Compile a monthly record of the number of employe accidents, the frequency record for each department and the total for city departments.

All divisions to report accidents to one central office, with the mayor's office suggested.

The head of each department to be responsible for safety.

Supervisors in all departments to hold a safety meeting once a month. A report of the meeting should be forwarded to the Council as to attendance, items discussed and unsafe conditions.

Long said the safety department of the State Industrial Accident Commission will aid each supervisor in organizing the meetings.

Mayor Thomas S. Post praised the report and agreed to send letters of thanks to the committee members.

In other action last night, Long asked when flood control work in the Williams Street area near South Mechanic Street would be completed. He cited the resulting trafic problems for the Police Department and said business people in the area were inconvenienced.

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick said he understood the work was nearing completion. Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said he was told workmen struck a bed of hard rock, which delayed excavation.

Referred to Long and Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn was a letter from W. Arnold Gunther, state bacteriologist, who said he had received fines for parking at the south side of the Public Safety Building, where the Cumberland Branch Laboratory is located. Gunther suggested metering all parking spaces and providing tokens for those who use cars on official business.

The John I. Vandergrift Company was ordered paid $9,170 as the fourth estimate for removing houses on Valley Street in connection with flood control work.

Tabled for one week was a request from Cumberland Voiture No. 164, Forty and Eight, for a council contribution of $500 toward a Halloween celebration this year.

Julian F. Schonter and John D. Wilson, representing the City Cab Service, applied for a taxi stand to be located in the vicinity of 29 South Centre Street. The letter was referred to Long.

Refunds were ordered paid to James W. Gray, 425 Valley Street, of $4.90 overpaid on 1949 city taxes; and to Kathryn Greene, 19 Roberts Street, for a $12.45 overpayment on 1949 city taxes.

The council granted a request by Clyde C. Gurley to operate a 20-car parking lot at 226-228 Frederick Street, on the recommendation of Chief Flynn.

Council Plans Support Of Parkway Bill

$500 Granted To Industry Group

Making of "necessary contacts" to support passage of the Canal Parkway bill now pending in Congress was approved last night by the Mayor and Council.

The action was suggested in a letter from William L. Wilson, Jr., president of the Western Maryland Motor Club. He urged that letters be sent to Rep. J. Glenn Beall and to U. S. Senator Millard E. Tydings.

Wilson pointed out that building of the proposed parkway from Georgetown to Cumberland would improve economic and industrial conditions in this area and would increase employment.

Payment of $500 was authorized to the Allegany County Industrial Promotion Committee as the city's share of a $1,000 retainer fee for Richardson Wood and Company.

The Clyde Beatty Circus of Los Angeles, Calif., was granted permission to show here on Thursday, September 7, at the Mid-City Park on Wineow Street. A $100 cash deposit will be made with the city.

Flanagan Reported In Fair Condition

John Flanagan, 45, Ridgeley, was reported in "fair" condition last night at Memorial Hospital after falling Sunday from a railroad trestle over the Potomac River.

Hospital attaches said Flanagan suffered fractures of both arms and the right ankle and possibly internal injuries.

Flanagan fell 25 feet off the trestle on the West Virginia side of the river as he was returning from Cumberland about 2 a. m.

Ridgeley Chief of Police Arch McCord and several citizens found Flanagan lying unconscious on the rock-covered river bank a few feet from the water's edge.

Boy, 5, Falls Into Cistern

Five-year-old Michael Leon Brewer was showing friends a lacerated leg yesterday, the only injury he suffered when he fell to the bottom of a deep cistern on Baker Street Sunday.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brewer, 703 Baker Street, told his parents he was looking for a special type of wood to construct a model airplane when he toppled into the partially filled hole.

An older sister, Mary Lou Brewer, said she saw her brother fall but by the time she reached the open-top cistern the boy had climbed back to the top. Loose fill dirt down one side enabled him to make the climb.

The child was treated in Memorial Hospital for a deeply lacerated left leg and discharged. The sister said the cistern is closed in by a fence but the structure is "rotting away and leaves holes big enough for an adult to pass through."

The boy, she said, apparently had gone to the vacant lot in the 700-block on Baker Street searching for branches of a tree that he uses to make model airplanes.

The family said the hole was drained and partially filled after another child fell into it last year.

Young Democrats Plan Activities

The Young Democrat Club is planning an extensive program to encourage the registration of all citizens eligible to vote in the fall elections, David Kauffman, president, said last night.

A committee has been named and is working out a program of publicity and education on registration procedure.

The club also plans to hold a picnic here September 12. It will be a basket affair, probably in Constitution Park, however, plans are still in the preliminary stage, Kauffman stated.

Sunday at 6 p. m. (EST) the Garrett County Young Democrats will hold a picnic at Pleasant Valley Recreation Area, Bittinger, and members of the local club plan to participate. Kauffman has been invited as a guest speaker.

The local club is also planning to participate in the Labor Day parade with Billy McDermott, Jr., Margaret Jane Jolley, and David Wood a committee to complete parade arrangements.

Davis Man Killed By Rifle Shot

A 60-year-old Davis, W. Va., man who was caring for two teenage boys while their parents were working in Baltimore, was found dead yesterday morning of a gunshot wound in the home of his employers.

Tucker County Sheriff D. E. Crosten identified the victim as Delton Ray Whitehair and said he died of a self-inflicted shot from a .22 rifle. The bullet entered Whitehair's head just above the right ear and lodged somewhere in the skull, he added.

Whitehair had been caring for the 16 and 14-year-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Tennet, Auviltown, W. Va., while they were employed in Baltimore, according to Sheriff Crosten.

The youths came back from milking at about 8:30 a. m. and found Whitehair dead on a bed.

Sheriff Crosten said the man left a note telling the Tennets not to blame the boys, that he had shot himself.

The sheriff also stated that Whitehair had a son, Carl Whitehair, who killed himself last June in Akron, Ohio.

Justice of the Peace Lawrence Lipscomb also investigated.

Whitehair had lived at the Nelle Rest Home, Parsons, W. Va., for about a year before coming to the Tennet home. He was born in Henry, W. Va., a son of William Whitehair, Cassville, W. Va., and the late Eliza Ark Whitehair.

Besides his father, he is survived by one son, Earl Whitehair, Cambridge, Ohio; one stepson, Opha Buckbee, Thomas, W. The body is at the home of his stepdaughter, Mrs. Wratchford. A funeral service will be conducted Thursday afternoon at Flanagan Hill Church. Burial will be in Flanagan Hill Cemetery.

Plan Proposed For Memorial Highway Here

State VFW Council Endorses Project

A proposal to rename and dedicate the Mt. Savage Road as a memorial to men and women who lost their lives in World Wars I and II, and to call the thoroughfare "Veterans Memorial Highway" has been endorsed by the Council of Administration of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Maryland.

First suggested by Old Rail Post No. 6025, VFW, Mt. Savage, the idea has been approved by posts in this district, and District Commander Edward Murray, Mt. Savage, submitted a resolution to the Council Sunday at their monthly meeting in the War Memorial Building, Baltimore.

The resolution urges improvements to the roadway, calling attention to its narrow road bed and series of sharp curves. A number of fatal accidents have occurred on the road and traffic over it has become increasingly heavy.

With the completion of the new Mt. Savage high school, the resolution states travel by children over the route will be greatly increased.

Old Rail Post membership believes the state should consider immediate improvements, and as these are completed, propose that the road be named and dedicated in honor of the war dead of this county.

The road extends from U. S. Route 40 just west of the Narrows, runs through Barrellville, Corriganville, Mt. Savage, Zihlman to Frostburg, where it again joins Route 40.

Copies of the resolution, as unanimously endorsed by the VFW State Department Council, are to be sent to Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Governor William Preston Lane, members of the Maryland State Roads Commission and other officials.

The Council of Administration, in their first meeting since the convention here, also laid plans for the annual membership drive, delved into a program of civil and military preparedness and a program to combat communism, and obligated a number of appointed and elected officers. State Commander Ward W. Caddington presided.

Attending from this district were Frank Webb, junior vice commander, F. Allen Weatherholt, public relations officer; Lester Mull, encampment chairman, and Edward J. Murray, district commander.

Elks Pledged To Fight Against Communism

Exalted Ruler Kyle Addresses Delegates

So great is the devotion to "country and our way of life that as long as there is a single Elk we will never run the risk of prostration beneath the heel of communism or any other foe."

That is the challenge issued to members of the Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia Elks Association by Grand Exalted Ruler Joseph B. Kyle, Gary, Ind., who spoke at a banquet climaxing the four-day session here last night.

Referring to the present emergency, Kyle said that local and state lodges would be called upon to perform the same activities as they had during other conflicts and the "Grand Lodge has pledged our entire resources to the support of the nation and the Commander-in-Chief.

"That is your mandate to me," he said in referring to his acceptance speech at Miami, Fla., "and I shall execute it faithfully."

Kyle expressed the belief the nation is fighting a religious war and "fighting a Godless thing in communism," which he termed a "poisonous corruption in the bloodstream of civilization."

Must Fight Traitors

"With the stakes so high," he continued, "we cannot afford to be tolerant with traitors. Neither can we tolerate those so blind as who refuse to see what communism has proved itself to be."

The Grand Exalted Ruler added that "Elkdom will continue to be militant."

Kyle paid tribute to the Tri-State Elks Association and said that during the past ten years its membership had increased 96 per cent. He added that its outlay for charitable work almost equalled the national average.

Tribute also was paid Cumberland Lodge which is celebrating its 63rd anniversary during the convention here.

Referring again to the Order, Kyle said that "Elks are doers for others and that is what attracts men to our Order. We need more old-time religion which is the basis of our form of government," he added.

Kyle said that as he entered upon his term of office, Elks are determined to make this year one of "outstanding community service. That is my keynote."

Kyle said the Elks Order exists to serve the community and to defend the American way of life which is based upon brotherhood and the spirit of neighborliness.

Social Clinics Planned

Continuing, he said, each Elks lodge is being asked to make a survey during the year in each community listing safety, recreation, health, juvenile delinquency and aid to underprivileged "to aid in the physicial, moral and spiritual welfare of our youth."

He said the Grand Lodge will hold clinics in each of the 151 districts and these problems will be discussed.

On subersive groups, the Grand Exalted Ruler said:

"Our service is to see that the community is made safe against subversive groups. The Elks Order has the greatest challenge than at any time in its history.

"We will insist upon, and help, keeping our country strong," he asserted.

Kyle paid tribute to Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, president of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children which has received proceeds from the Elks Minstrels here; A. Charles Stewart, Frostburg, past chairman of the Board of Grand Trustees; Robert Scott, superintendent of the Elks National Home, Bedford, Va.; Charles Hawthorne, Baltimore, past Grand Esteemed Lecturing Knight.

Others recognized included Dr. George Bennett, Baltimore, founder of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, who said "work being done here is as good as in any community in the country; Mrs. Kyle, Mrs. Scott and Mrs. John J. Mealey, and Harry S. Tracy, general convention chairman.

Kyle was introduced by Dr. Robert South Barrett, Alexandria, Va., past grand exalted ruler.

Mosner Is Toastmaster

John H. Mosner was toastmaster and John J. Mealey, president of the association, presented Kyle with a check for $200 representing its debt to the national foundation. The foundation is leading the fight against cerebral palsy, one of the campaigns undertaken by the Elks this year.

Approximately 250 attended the banquet at the Elks Lodge, South Centre Street. Music was provided by the Elks' Quartet.

Kyle arrived here yesterday from Bedford, Va., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Scott and officers of the local lodge and state delegation. One of his acts was an official visit to Frostburg Lodge, 470, Frostburg.

The convention ends today. Business sessions are set for 10 a. m. when newly elected officers will be installed.

They were elected at a business session yesterday morning and include:

Officers Named

Daniel Sullivan, Baltimore, president; George M. Jones, Prince Georges county, first vice president; Paul Roeder, Cumberland, second vice president; H. Brooks Perring, Silver Spring, third vice president.
